ALLIED CONFEREES
ON THE DAWES PLAN
ARE NEAR DEADLOCKBy DAVID M. CHURCH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

London, July 24.—The allied conference on the Dawes plan is dangerously near a deadlock today and numerous conferences are under way in an effort to compromise differences between France and the group of bankers who propose to float the $200,000,000 loan to Germany.

This morning the bankers had not receded from their position that the reparations commission is not the proper body to trust with authority to declare defaults and exact sanctions from Germany—at least as now constituted.

French representatives would yield none of the prerogatives of the commission and charged the bankers with attempting to break down the treaty of Versailles, which set up the reparations commission.

One of the most important conferences today brought together representatives of the "big five"—England, the United States, France, Belgium, and Italy—in an effort to agree on further concessions to the bankers that would be acceptable to France.

Meantime various plans were being advanced from various sources in the hope of breaking the deadlock.

One, whose origin is not entirely clear, suggested that Henry Ford undertake the flotation of the German loan. It has been reported in London that the American automobile maker is accumulating huge cash reserves for which he has no immediate outlet.

Another that is receiving more serious consideration is the proposal to set aside all German maritime customs to secure the loan.

The bankers already have rejected a plan to have France agree to guarantee the loan in event she takes separate sanctions from Germany. The bankers said a nation taking such sanctions finds its currency depreciating and is not a good guarantor.

The hitch continues to center on the reparations commission. The bankers regard the body as not unsuited to political influences. Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan representative, and Sir Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, are declared to be insistent on that point.

The French position that the reparations commission cannot surrender its powers has undergone no change so far as can be learned.

Files Suit To Recover
$1,000 Paid Woman Who Claimed To Be The Wife
Of Harrisburg Murderer

Harrisburg, Pa., July 24 (INS).—A murder eight years ago is the cause of a suit brought by Mrs. A. Michael Fields, who says she is the widow of the murdered man, to collect $1,000 compensation from another woman who posed as the wife of the murder victim.

The victim, A. Michael Ury, was slain in 1916 by a negro who hit him with a shovel. The negro was later electrocuted.

Now Mrs. Fields says she has learned "Ury" was living under a fictitious name and was really her husband. The other woman is alleged to have collected the compensation by posing as the wife of "Ury." She is said to be living in the south.

SECOND WARD TO THE BAT

The Second Ward would like to inquire if A. B. Reed of the First Ward and Mrs. M. F. Graham of the Fourth Ward have each only one ripe tomato. Mrs. Lester Smeal of Linden street has had two ripe tomatoes from her garden.

MARRIED AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, July 24. (INS).—A marriage license was issued here to Cleaver Thompson of Pittsburgh and Grace Mackie, of Clearfield.

Mrs. Ida S. Townsend of Williamsport, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Sutton for the past week.

ONE CENT BROOMS AT NORRISTOWN
HOSPITAL FOR PHYSICAL REPAIRS

Norristown, Pa., July 24 (INS).—A bargain counter rush at a one-cent broom sale developed into a near riot here today, resulting in the injury of nearly a score of women, 12 of whom were taken to the hospital. The incident occurred when the crush became so great, the store window collapsed, showering glass over the prospective purchasers.

SHENANDOAH ON
TWO-DAY CRUISE

PENNSY-GRAMS

Pittsburgh.—Two policemen, Harry Kurner and Edward Casto, are off duty today, nursing severe cuts received when they subdued an alleged lunatic, Richard Adanson, 46. Adanson refused to vacate a house here when ordered and police were informed of the fact yesterday. The two officers broke down the door and Adanson attacked them with an ax. They received several bruises and cuts before they could overpower the man.

Pittsburgh.—A barnyard sheik in Oakland will not crow today, for according to Police Sergeant John Giles he will be muzzled. Mrs. W. M. Angles could not sleep because the rooster crowed at dawn, she complained to the police, and even said she would buy the rooster if the owner promised not to get another. Giles said he would see that the crowing would be stopped.

Erie.—In an effort, it is said, to check alleged liquor transportation from New York to Ohio, about a dozen state police guarded highways leading into Erie and searched several automobiles, yesterday.

Butler.—C. E. Shirk, five years general secretary of the Butler Y. M. C. A., has resigned according to announcement made here. Shirk will become general secretary of the Central Y. M. C. A. of Harrisburg and take up his new duties September 1.

Philadelphia, July 24.—Mrs. Mary Jones of this city today left for Providence, R. I., where her 24-year-old daughter Irene is being held as a "bobbed-haired bandit" in connection with the robbery of a garage at Cumminsville, Vermont.

Philadelphia.—Detectives today were working on the case of William D. Rogers, real estate broker, who is said to have received a postcard and a letter signed "K. K. K." and threatening him with drowning unless he leaves the city.

Philadelphia.—Elizabeth Sorber, 20-year-old nurse, who confessed to police here that she smothered her baby one hour after birth and then checked the body in a suit case at the Camden, N. J., ferry station, was ordered held without bail for a further hearing next week by Magistrate Pennock here today. The woman was arraigned on a charge of murder.

Philadelphia.—Seventeen cases were disposed of by Judge MacNeille here last night in the first session of the "poor man's court," which operates without lawyers and with no cost to the contestants. Both parties are obliged to sign an agreement to abide by the judge's decision before a case is heard.

Philadelphia.—Leslie J. Burton, 13, was instantly killed here when a steel surveying tape, with which he was helping his father measure some property, came in contact with a high tension wire.

Philadelphia.—A padlock injunction for one year was issued by Judge Dickinson here yesterday against the Feldman saloon on Sansom street.

DR. LEIPOLD'S MOTHER IS DEAD

Mrs. George Leipold, mother of Dr. F. D. Leipold, died at the home of her son on West Front street about 7 o'clock this morning, after an illness of about four weeks.

Proper obituary and funeral notice will appear later.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Bowman and children of Williamsport, motor here today to spend the week end with the latter's grandmother, Mrs. James Sutton. Mr. Bowman is actively interested in the American Legion, being vice commander of Post No. 1 of Penna. and a delegate to the State Convention.

LEOPOLD-LOEB CASE
DRAGS ON WITH BIG
ARRAY OF WITNESSESBy GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Criminal Court, Chicago, July 24.—Bit by bit and fact by fact the prosecution of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and ers and slayers of Young Babby Richard A. Loeb, confessed kidnaper, added today to the "mountain of evidence" on which state's Attorney Crowe has repeatedly vowed he will send them to the gallows.

A steady stream of witnesses flowed through the high chair by the Judge's box today and added their contributions to the damning net of evidence that the state is throwing about the pair of young college students.

Hotel Clerks, railroad employees, physicians, fellow students and servants in the wealthy home of young Leopold passed in and out of the witness chair during the morning session of the famous trial. All of them had some knowledge of the facts and circumstances leading up to the crime, some contribution to make to the state's case.

The boys, smiling, unperturbed and apparently as interested as they would be in watching a theatrical performance, observed the numerous witnesses with unemotional faces. Many times they grinned at those whose words were bringing the hangman's noose closer and closer to their necks.

Seldom did the attorneys for the boys make any objection or even question witnesses the state produced in such abundance. They have already staked their case on pleading guilty to the crime and hoping for a life sentence for the pair instead of the gallows.

Chicago, July 24. (INS).—The state's case against Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb will be completed by Saturday, State's Attorney Crowe announced just before court opened today. The hearing will be completed nearly next week, he believes.

Court was late in getting underway this morning. Both dapper young defendants smiled and nodded to friends and acquaintances as they came in at 10:15. They were dressed as meticulous as usual and grinned and conversed in low whispers as the first witness took the stand. He was Andy Russo, of New York, an electrician employed by the Pullman Company.

It was Russo who discovered one of the letters written by the defendants to Jacob Franks, the father of their victim.

A LUCKY OIL WELL
SHOOTER IS THIS
BRADFORD MAN

Bradford, Pa., July 24 (INS).—Burr Hoobert, oil well shooter for the Pringle Power Company of Bradford, is lucky he is alive today after the experience he had yesterday. He was taking 80 quarts of nitroglycerine in a wagon to Garlock Hollow, near here to shoot a well, when the wagon overturned pinning Hoobert under it. He suffered only minor injuries. Nitroglycerine explodes at the least provocation but the explosive remained intact this time.

PICNIC TRUCK IS STRUCK BY TRAIN;
TEN ARE KILLED

Annual Outing of Ohio
Rural High School Has Terrible Ending; Four
More May Not Survive.

FOUR ADULTS DIE

Oak Harbor, O., July 24 (INS).—As the result of a fast New York Central flyer striking a picnic truck at a grade crossing here, 10 persons, seven of whom were high school students, are dead, four others are seriously injured that it is thought they will die, and 12 others less seriously injured last evening.

All but four of the dead or injured are under 18 years of age. The picnic was the annual outing of the Attica High School and was returning from a picnic grounds near this city. Henry Spangler, the driver of the bus which contained 27 persons, failed to heed warning signals and drove directly into the path of the approaching Chicago-Cleveland train according to witnesses.

Train passengers said the engineer had whistled several times for the crossing and, as the bus came into view slapped the brakes on, which failed to slacken the sixty mile an hour pace, in such a short distance.

The bus was rolled over several times and was dragged more than 300 feet. The victims were strewn along both sides of the track, many of them horribly mangled.

The dead:
Henry Spangler, 34, driver of the bus, Willard, Ohio.
Mrs. Mabel Wolfe, 25.
Mrs. Vernon L. Cooke, 45.
Ella Olds, 16.
Geraldine Shemf, 13.
Olga Pratt, 15.
Holden Ossman, 14.
Milan Schaan, 16.
Forest Crompting, 17.
Viola Crompting, 15, all of Attica, Ohio.

The injured:
Dalton Reichard, 16; John Bounner, 12; Mary O. Lepard, 14; Russell Wolfe, 28; Russell Reichert, 16; Marian Schmeltz, 16; Helen Hoffman, 14; L. mis, Slagel 16; Vernita Lepard, 17; Neal Hoffman, 13; Margaret Bernard, 16; Eva F. F. 15; Vera Hoffman, 15, all of Attica, Ohio.

spreading were contained in another report that the governor and hundreds of army officers and civilian officials had been arrested in the state of Rio Grande de Sul, and a military dictatorship set up.

Youthful Honeymooners
Take In Atlantic City
On $1.40—For Awhile

Atlantic City, N. J., July 24 (INS).—The honeymoon of Robert Roehm and his wife Margaret, each 17 years old, of Lancaster, Pa., was abruptly terminated here today by police.

The couple "hitch-hiked" from Lancaster, where they were married on Sunday, arriving here with a total capital of $1.40. Using $1.25 of this amount to rent a room for his wife, Roehm walked the streets all night.

His pacing attracted attention of a policeman, who after hearing the young bridegroom's story, communicated with Lancaster. Money was forwarded for the couple's return, and added information was that their parents promised a blessing on the union.

LOCAL HAYMAKER HONORED

Past Chief Haymaker W. H. Sutton has returned home from Reading where he presided over the 31st annual convention of the State Association of Haymakers, a side degree of the Independent Order of Red Men. The next convention goes to Lebanon.

Retiring Chief Sutton was presented with a very handsome Past Chief Haymaker's emblem or jewel and was further honored by being chosen a delegate from Pennsylvania to the national convention, which meets in Detroit, Mich. next month.

Mr. Sutton has been very active in Red Manhood and has kept Clearfield on the map at both Red Men and Haymaker conventions for the past 20 years and has been a zealous worker in the local tribe all of that time.

When asked at Reading if he was 100 per cent American, Bill replied that about 99 per cent was as near perfect as he thought he could get.

MOTHER OF SLAIN
BOY NEAR COLLAPSE
AS SHE TESTIFIESBy CARL W. HARRIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Criminal Court Room, Chicago, July 24.—A somberly garbed woman, whose face showed the traces of recent tears, took the witness stand in criminal court here yesterday to tell of her knowledge of the killing of her boy.

She was Mrs. Jacob Franks, mother of the boy for whose slaying Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, today are on trial for their lives.

She looked at her questioners dully as she sat straight up in the witness chair, her gloved hands playing nervously with the folds of her dress.

Her responses were made in a low tone of voice which barely carried to the jury box.

And as the questions bore on her boy leaving home alive and of the subsequent finding of the body, her voice wavered, tears welled into her eyes and nearly overflowed down the face lined with grief.

She trembled as the state's attorney asked her to recount her last conversation with her boy, slumped slightly in her chair and appeared on the verge of collapse.

Then exhibits were offered Mrs. Franks one by one and each she identified after holding it a moment in her hands as if there somehow were a real part of the boy whom she would never fold in her arms again.

Brazilian Revolt Reported Marching On The National Capital

London, July 24. (INS).—Brazilian revolutionists today were reported marching on Rio Janeiro, capital of the Brazilian republic, from Sao Paulo, according to wireless dispatches from Santos.

Troops left in Sao Paulo were also said to be taking the offensive against the federalists surrounding the city.

Many of the largest and handsomest buildings in Sao Paulo have been destroyed by the federal artillery fire, including the palatial home of the governor of the state who is now a fugitive, the dispatches said.

CHICAGO DISTRICT
STEEL MEN EXPECT
BIG THINGS FROM
F. T. C. DECISION

Chicago, July 24 (INS).—Centering of the steel manufacturing and fabrication industries in the Chicago district instead of in Pittsburgh and immediate expenditure in this district of more than $200,000,000 for extension of present plants and construction of additional ones was forecast by leading steel and iron men here today as a result of the Federal Trade Commission ruling abolishing the "Pittsburgh plus" system of steel price fixing.

South Chicago, Hammond, Ind., Gary, Ind., Indiana Harbor and scores of smaller cities and towns in the Calumet district today were quickening to the thrill of impending rapid development.

It was reported that the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, largest independent steel manufacturing concern in the world, was making ready to erect a $50,000,000 plant on a 1,200 acre site purchased at Hammond several years ago. This plant alone, it was said, will employ 12,000 men. Only the possibility that there may be an appeal from the Trade Commission's ruling, reports in steel circles had it, now stands in the way of start of construction.

Local officials of other steel companies admitted that construction then threatened him back between the rails and the contest continued.

"Pete" and the fireman became intensely interested in the race, the fireman allowing his sympathies to go out to the "tracer" to such an extent that he offered to wager a poke of scrap that the snake would win.

"Pete's" loyalty to his "snake wagon" got the better of his conscience.

WRIGHT'S DAUGHTER TO GET MILLIONTH TAG

Harrisburg, July 25. (INS).—Secretary of Highways Paul D. Wright has been given his orders on Pennsylvania motor vehicle license tag No. 1,000,000. His daughter has given the order.

A number of persons had been seeking this unusual tag, but a day or so ago Mr. Wright was informed that the tag was already reserved by his daughter.

Youthful Sweethearts
Locked In Each Other's
Arms, Drown In River

New York, July 25. (INS).—The Hudson River, off Stony Point, N. Y., was being dragged today for the bodies of Eleanor Griffiths, 14, and Stanley De Anoy, 15, youthful sweethearts who went down—locked in each other's arms.

The sweethearts went for an outing at Stony Point. They played on the beach.

Stanley suddenly heard Eleanor scream. The tide had pulled her to midstream. He swam to her frantically. He struggled to bring her ashore but his strength gave out, and they both sank.

Matinous Girls At Capital
Training School Wreck
Building And Injure Two

Washington, July 24 (INS).—After a hectic night of rioting in which fifty matinous inmates nearly wrecked the National training school for girls, order was restored early today. Five persons were injured and the interior of the building is virtually demolished.

A score of policemen, responding to a riot call, put down the rebellion after it waged two hours out of control. Ring leaders were finally placed in solitary confinement and extra guards remained on duty to prevent a further outbreak.

The trouble started in the dining hall when two girls staged a hair pulling match. Hauled out of the room by attendants, fifty other girls began a free for all fight, throwing dishes and furniture. In the fighting, which followed, the two girls who started the trouble were released by their fellow prisoners.

Knives were wielded and attendants driven out of the building. In the fighting, policeman William Sager, 30, was severely bitten by Phyllis May, an 18-year old inmate, and police Sergeant F. J. Marks was severely injured when hit on the back by another girl, armed with an iron bar.

Tells Story Of Thrilling
Race Between Blue Racer
And Black Horse of Steel

Theodore Peterson, an engineer on the River Line off the N. Y. C., says a blacksnake more than six feet long ran ahead of his engine for more than two miles, down near Keating yesterday.

"Pete" says the snake, which he thinks may have been a blue racer, because it hustled over the road like blue blazes, was sunning itself on the cinders between the rails at the "ash pan dump" two miles above Keating and when startled out of its snooze darted down the track ahead of the engine. He "threw 'er over" but the increased speed of the big machine only served to make the snake hump his back that much faster as the race down the river began. The snake kept about twenty yards ahead of the engine, which was doing thirty miles an hour. His snakeship attempted to drop out of the race several times but as he raised his head to clear the track the singing of the rails as the weight of the on-rushing locomotive caused them to vibrate as it struck them frightened him back between the rails and the contest continued.

"Pete" and the fireman became intensely interested in the race, the fireman allowing his sympathies to go out to the "tracer" to such an extent that he offered to wager a poke of scrap that the snake would win.

"Pete's" loyalty to his "snake wagon" got the better of his conscience.

For Annual Big Picnic

Methodist Day at Lakemont Park is July 31, and a big day it promises to be for those who attend. The morning program is that peerless gentleman from Elm Park Methodist church, Scranton, Pa. He will speak at the 10 o'clock service.

In the afternoon, Rev. Doctors Pyles and Fausch, than whom there are no severer exponents of Biblical evangelism, and Rev. Dr. O. B. Poulson, preacher and director will deal in heavenly trade minds. It will be a rare opportunity to hear fine expression from men who were eloquent.

In the evening will be "The Pageant of Methodism," directed by Mrs. Montgomery of well known histrionic ability, in which the church of Altoona and vicinity put on an episode or scene in episode covering an important period of Methodism's thrilling history of nearly 200 years. The pageant will be costumed and delightfully realistic. The people will want to see it.

Meals will be served at reasonable rates and luncheon provided by deservingly church workers of the vicinity. Amusements of legitimate type are for all.

QU'DRUPLE WEDDING
IS PRETTY EVENT
IN RURAL HOME

The most remarkable celebration or series of celebrations to occur in this region within the mind of the present generation took place yesterday at the hospitable farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Butler I. Mead, situated in Lawrence township on the plateau overlooking the Susquehanna river, at the top of Lick Run hill.

The occasion proper was the celebration of the 50th or golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, respected residents of this region all their long lives and who have resided on Mt. Joy road, at the edge of Clearfield, for the past 26 years.

On July 23d, 1874, Harvey Wilson and Sophia Powell, members of two of Bradford township's pioneer and best known families, journeyed over to Tyrona and had Rev. Miller perform the ceremony which united them as man and wife. The young couple returned to Bigler, where they began house-keeping and have since resided in this section of Clearfield county. They have lived quiet, consistent, christian lives and enjoy the unbounded respect and esteem of all with the privilege of their acquaintance. They have five children, three sons and two daughters, to comfort them in their declining years, and of these, together with a score or more of grandchildren, all but one were present at the golden wedding.

To add to the joyousness of the occasion, the two daughters, Viola, wife of Butler I. Mead and Stella, wife of A. B. Wallace, of McBride street, celebrated their 25th or silver wedding anniversary yesterday, which made the affair in a remarkable and to add even further pleasure to the joyous and auspiciousness of the occasion, Dorsey Wilson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, took advantage of the opportunity to take unto himself a wife. Accordingly Dorsey Wilson, of DuBois, and Miss Sara L. Hartzfeld, of Luthersburg, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Dr. A. Platt, of DuBois.

About one hundred friends of the participants in this remarkable quadruple celebration were present and enjoyed one of the finest dinners it was possible for excellent cooks to provide and the snappily pretty girls, among the granddaughters, to most excellently serve.

Rev. W. L. Armstrong of the West Side Methodist Church, asked the

The occasion was one likely to be remembered by those present, who were unanimous in calling it the end of a perfect day, when time for an evening arrived and all departed for their homes.

In addition to the golden and silver wedding guests present, the wedding party from DuBois and Luthersburg numbered 12 people.

FORMER WOODLAND PASTOR

Windhorst, Pa., July 23.—Rev. Jeremiah Samuel Hayes, 67 years old, formerly pastor of the Kephart Memorial United Brethren church, McKeesport, died of septic poisoning this morning in the United Brethren parsonage. A slight scratch on a finger two weeks ago a few days later developed into blood poisoning. Rev. Hayes had been in the ministry 41 years, during which time he had the following charges in this state: Indiana, Springfield, East; Salem, Lippincott; Mahoning, Coalport; Clearville, Woodland, Johnstown, New Florence, DuBois, Everson, Youngstown, Punxsutawney, McKeesport and Windhorst. His son, Warren H. Hayes, is serving as a United Brethren missionary in Tokyo, Japan. Funeral services for Rev. Hayes will be held Thursday afternoon in his church.

GOT BIG RATTLER

Frank Reed and Frank Schrote, of Hyde, were out at the head of Stone Run this morning and killed a rattlesnake four feet long which sported some rattles. It was a big yellow brat and sure did look like a vicious bird.

SATURDAY NIGHT BATH NO MYTHS SURVEY SHOWS

The business of the Saturday night bath may sound rather funny but it isn't any myth.

For according to information collected here, more hot water is used on a Saturday night than any other time during the week. In large cities it has been found that millions more gallons are used on "bath" night than at other times.

Other facts brought out by the survey show:

A Chinese restaurant kitchen, while scrupulously clean, uses only half as much hot water as an American kitchen of the same size.

Dish washing machines use more water than a dishpan and sink, but turn out cleaner dishes.

More hot water is used where there are servants than where there are not. Hotel baths are used twice as often by transient guests as by permanent ones.

Office employees wash regularly at lunch time but not so regularly at the end of the day.

Scrub women do not use much hot water.

The higher the rent, the greater the use of hot water in apartments.

To raise a gallon of water 100 degrees only requires two cubic feet of gas.

The most economical temperature at which to use hot water is between 145 and 150 degrees. On all intermittent water heating, gas is cheaper than coal.

Master Austin Turner celebrated his seventh birthday by entertaining twelve of his boy friends at the Clearfield driving park Thursday afternoon. At four o'clock a delicious lunch was served after which the kiddies reported a good time and wished Austin many more happy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Litz and niece Miss Murryen Welch left today for Lock Haven, where they will join an automobile party leaving there tomorrow for Mount Gretna, Gettysburg and Hagerstown, Md.

Mrs. Frank Connolly was advised by wire last evening of the serious illness of her daughter, Mrs. James Elmes, who was taken to the city hospital at Elyria, Ohio, her home, to undergo an operation for gall stones. Mrs. Connolly, accompanied by her granddaughter Mary Catherine Flanagan, of Detroit, who had been visiting here, left this evening for Elyria.

How to Remove Unsightly Hair Safely—Roots and All

No need now to undergo painful electric treatments to remove superfluous hair; nor to apply ordinary ineffective hair removers which only remove surface hairs.

A marvelous new oriental balsam has been discovered which is applied almost as easily as cold cream. It penetrates towards the hair roots, and gently "eases out" every objectionable hair, root and all, and leaves the skin clear, white, healthy and soft as velvet. No muss. No odor. No growing of hair stronger than ever. Absolutely harmless.

Karma, as this wonderful new discovery is called, is highly recommended by prominent beauty specialists, and is sold on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction by Cecil R. Bloom's Drug Store.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

In a bulletin just issued by the State Highway Department, entitled, "Facts Motorists Should Know," attention is directed to those parts of Pennsylvania which have the highest mountains. Somerset county leads with the loftiest summits, some of its most notable mountains being Negro mountain, 3,220 feet high; Big Spring Summit, 3,135 feet; Peck's Peak, 3,120 feet and Old Fort Hill Summit and Mount View School Knob, each 3,100 feet. Luzerne county has mountains 3,000 feet high, and Potter, Clinton, Susquehanna, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Wyoming, Franklin, Clearfield, Center and Fulton counties have elevations of more than 2,000 feet.

Some birds live to a great age. The age of 90 is known to have been reached by a gray parrot, and there are many statements of birds of the parrot family having lived for over a century. The raven also is credited with having reached 100 years. A recent investigation into the subject of the longevity of birds shows that with one exception the carrion, or meat-eating birds, are the longest lived. The exception is the swan. The average ages for some of the best known birds are given in the following list: Black bird lives 12 years; canary 24; crow, 100; eagle, 100; fowl (common) 10; goldfinch, 15; goose, 50; heron, 52; lark, 13; linnet, 23; nightingale, 18; partridge, 15; peacock, 24; pelican, 50; pheasant, 15; pigeon, 20; raven, 100; robin, 12; skylark, 30; sparrowhawk, 40; swan, 100; thrush, 10, and wren, 3 years.

Revocation of licenses of eighty hunters for various serious infractions of the game law was announced by the Board of Game Commissioners at their April meeting, and fifteen additional licenses for one and two year periods have just been made. To date the Board has revoked licenses of 285 hunters in Pennsylvania since the Act of 1921 was passed authorizing such revocations. All of these hunters have been denied the right to hunt or to secure a license for periods of one or two years and they cannot legally hunt for birds or animals of any kind until the expiration of the time for which their licenses have been revoked. A complete list giving the names of persons whose licenses have been revoked for this year will be announced later.

This year will be memorable in history as the year that witnessed the final preliminary steps in the long campaign waged by medical science against the last of the outstanding contagious maladies of childhood that hitherto had proved intractable. The malady is scarlet fever. The conquest of that malady seems to be clearly forecast in discoveries and demonstrations made in recent months by workers in the field of pathology and experimental therapeutics.

Laboratory work has demonstrated that a particular type of bacterium known as the streptococcus, is the offending organism responsible for the malady which, since diphtheria came under the control of antitoxin, has been the most feared scourge of childhood.

It has long been known that streptococci are always present in the throats of scarlet fever patients. It was necessary to isolate a specific type of streptococcus and to prove that this organism, cultivated in an artificial medium, gave out toxins that could transmit scarlet fever. This demonstration has recently been made by Drs. George F. Dick and Gladys Henry Dick, husband and wife, after long and patient investigation.

These investigations have shown that by inoculating a horse with doses of the toxin the system of the horse will develop an antitoxin which will neutralize the poisonous quality of the toxin. It is reasonable to hope that this antitoxin will prove a curative agency in the treatment of scarlet fever.

Extensive and seemingly conclusive tests have been made of the power of the artificially developed streptococcal toxin to reveal susceptibility to scarlet fever in any child by an inoculation method. It has been found that further inoculations of a susceptible child with stronger doses of the toxin remove susceptibility or give immunity. There is reason to believe that a child thus immunized would pass through a scarlet fever epidemic unscathed.

Dr. Abraham Zingher, of the Research Laboratory of the New York Department of Health, first inoculated his own children, then inaugurated a series of tests with children of the public school, and very recently he inoculated a group of susceptibles among the orphans in local asylums. The new method gives augury of the ultimate control, or even banishment, of scarlet fever.

Opportunity for Every Boy

It was a wise dispensation of Providence to have provided so many games for boys that every boy can pick out at least one in which he can excel all rivals, and have the memory of his prowess to support him when he has grown old.

LEOPOLD LOEB CASE DRAGON

With consummate cunning, they had written a letter to the telegraph rack in car 307 on a train leaving Chicago. It gave him directions as to how to proceed to ransom his son who was then dead.

There was no cross examination. Defense attorneys have admitted everything.

David Barish, proprietor of the store from which Leopold and Loeb did some telephoning in their working out of the plot, was recalled and completed technical details of his testimony yesterday.

Frank B. Tull, clerk of the Hotel Lenox, showed a yellow envelope containing "credentials" made out to "Morton D. Ballard," one of Leopold's aliases, by which he was enabled to rent the murder car.

Dr. Emil Deutsch, oculist, who prescribed glasses for Leopold, next took the stand. It was the accidental dropping of a pair of glasses near the curvet where the body of Bobby Franks was hidden that first directed suspicion to young Leopold.

When the glasses were found they were discovered to be an unique make, handled only by one Chicago firm. The firm's records disclosed that three people in all Chicago who had precisely these glasses—a lady, a professional man and young Leopold. The first two were readily absolved, and the chase ended with Leopold.

Dr. Deutsch simply identified the glasses. Thomas McWilliams, manager of the Morrison hotel, where Leopold also had rented a room under the name of "Morton D. Ballard," further completed the identification.

The maid testified that there had been a portable Underwood typewriter in the Leopold home for several months prior to the Franks murder. It was on this machine that the ransom letter was written to the elder Franks.

Is this machine similar to the one in Nathan's room? asked Crowe, holding aloft the battered machine that was taken out of the Jackson park lagoon. It had been thrown there by young Leopold after the murder.

"Yes," she said. Crowe next dragged out the charred and bloody automobile robe, in which Leopold and Loeb confessed, they wrapped the body of young Franks after he had been knifed on the head with the chisel in the car. She then identified the robe as one similar to that used in the Leopold case. Arnold Marenson, a student at the University of Chicago, a law school mate of Leopold's, next called. He testified he had known Leopold for several years, and had frequently gone to the Leopold home to study with the young son of the house. His testimony was merely contributory to that of the maid concerning the typewriter. Other fellow students gave similar corroborative testimony concerning the typewriter.

Mrs. Lucille Smith and her daughter, Jeanette, testified they had seen the "murder car" near the curvet on the night that Loeb and Leopold disposed of the body.

maximum mileage

YOU want gasoline that is volatile—easy vaporizing—quick igniting. Atlantic gives you that. And more! It has the stamina which means MAXIMUM MILEAGE.

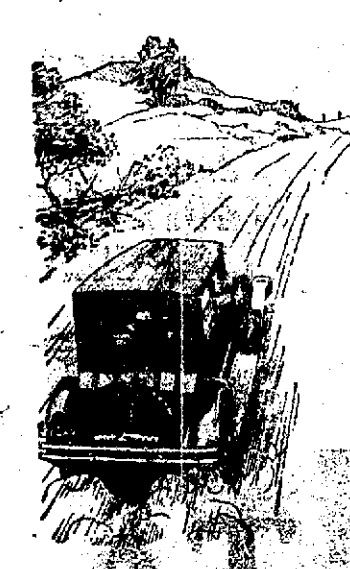

The Atlantic you buy to-day is a scientifically balanced gasoline—formulated to fit not simply one, but all of the widely varying conditions under which the modern automobile motor must operate.

Atlantic isn't simply a fair-weather gasoline. Its uniform chain of "boiling points" gives it all the elements for action and all the elements for power required for every speed, load and temperature.

You need no scientific analysis to discover Atlantic's day-in-and-day-out superiority. Performance tells the story!

MILITARY POLICING

It seems that General Butler, who has been policing Philadelphia, has to go. He is generally credited with having done a good job. The trouble is, it has been too good a job to please the politicians—and there are politicians in Philadelphia. They have been after the general's scalp ever since he was borrowed from Uncle Sam by Mayor Kendrick, several months ago, to clean up the city.

Politics is the bane of the police force in nearly every big city, and in some little ones. The Philadelphia mayor felt that the only way to get rid of longstanding evils in the organization and spirit of the force and the regulation of vice and crime was to bring in an outsider who would tackle the problem impartially and ruthlessly. General Butler has done that. He shook up the police force and continued shaking it up. He made himself a terror to local wrong-doers. He swept the city fairly clean of flagrant iniquity. He knew no favorites. In a word, he applied military methods to local policing.

But there is probably something to be said on the other side. The meddling politicians may not be altogether wrong-headed or vicious. Political and military methods seldom harmonize. Yet a city is necessarily run by politics, of some brand or other; and politics, whether good or bad, is usually very human.

A police chief or director cannot get along forever without political support. The hard, unyielding discipline of the army or navy or marine corps has to meet the human, political factor somewhere, and establish a working understanding. The righteousness and efficiency may be all on General Butler's side, but that was not enough. The ideal police chief is both soldier and politician—soldier to do the work and politician to win the necessary support.

THE PERFECT POSTMASTER

A postmaster who advertises for more business is almost unique in the annals of American history. Nashville, Tenn., has such an official. He wants more and more mail sent through his post-office, and in order to encourage citizens to gratify his desire for work he bombards his fellow-townsmen with mimeographed letters advising them to correspond, to advertise by mail, and even dares them to try to swamp him and his postal force.

And then, having aroused citizens' interest, he proceeds to hawl them out thoroughly, but merrily, for their shortcomings. Legible writing, correct addresses, properly stamped packages and similar things, he pleads for with wit and sarcasm that surely must take effect.

He lists the things that women frequently do wrong—such as writing notes on the pages of magazines or papers they are mailing, affixing a one-cent stamp on all packages of papers, no matter what they weigh and not leaving enough room for the address on envelopes. Then he adds:

"The splendid improvement in the Nashville mail service, which made it famous from Ellis Island to the Golden Gate, was made possible by the best set of women on earth—the young business women in the many offices of Nashville.

"What's become of the old-fashioned typist who kept both feet on the floor and wrote 'M'd. like 'Mo.'?"

Certainly a town with a postmaster like that ought to take an interest in its mail service and should be alert to obey all the instructions the postal authorities make for efficiency's sake. And what a boon his anecdotes and bright sayings must be in an otherwise monotonous routine!

A WILL DETERMINES

THE WAY

The way of a modern Executor and Trustee is not an easy one. It is fraught with all sorts of obstacles—legal restrictions, tax complications, investment problems, claims against the estate, inventories, the payment of bequests, the sale or management of property and innumerable details and difficulties.

Inexperience may blindfold individuals in the administration of estates. Personal affairs may curtail their activities. Death may destroy their usefulness. But this institution has none of these drawbacks. It is experienced in estate procedure, specializing in the fulfillment of Wills. Its time is entirely devoted to the affairs of its clients. Its existence is continuous. Our booklet, "The Descent of Property in Pennsylvania," may interest you; or perhaps you wish to discuss your estate problems with one of our Trust Officers. You are always welcome.

A church member doesn't often bet, but when he does, even he wants to win. So "Pete" hooked the lever over another notch, but the snake also had a little up his sleeve and with a few extra humps glided by the station at Keating like the "blue streak" he was, and as the iron horse glowed down for the station the reptile gained another rail length, glided over the shiny rail, and disappeared in the brush at the river's edge.

When he paid the bet he lost "Pete" said, "Well, even if he did beat us in a two-mile straight away, that snake had to go some; and while a snake is said to be cold-blooded, that black snake was so hot when the race ended his back was a layer of foam for the entire extent of his 60 inches." He still says the engine would have won had the fireman stayed at his post and kept 'er hot, instead of crowding into the window to cheer his champion on to victory in his mad race. He also wants to bet that snake can't be coaxed to come within one hundred yards of the railroad tracks again. So you see what a man comes to when he once starts betting.

Progress Editorials for Women

THE FATAL NORD

By FLORENCE DAVIES

A famous sport writer headlines a little paragraph, "Tender Talk and Lost."

Unless you happen to be a devotee of the sport page, you may not know that Low Tender is a fighting person, who set about it some time ago, to get the better of Benny Leonard, another fighting person, in a battle of lists.

But Tender lost. It seems that he talked. He was doing very well, so the sport writer assures us, and dauntless Leonard was perilously close to the border line of defeat. Then Leonard, his strength waning, resorted to his wits and jeered at his opponent, just to get him to jeer back. For he knew full well that once he got his enemy to talking, he would succeed in scattering his concentration and the day would be saved.

The ruse worked. The fighter partly stopped fighting and went to talking. If he had talked less he could have hit harder.

Even non-pugilistically inclined people ought to read the sport page once in a while. Life is just another kind of game and the rules that work for one game are very apt to work for another.

A good many of us talk too much.

ation should be maintained and that the interests of all stockholders of the corporation would be promoted by not drawing on the surplus at this time for payment of dividends on the common stock."

MARINO—BARONE

Mr. Rosario Marino and Miss Carrie Barone, popular Clearfield young people, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at a nuptial mass in St. Francis Church at 8 o'clock this morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father M. A. Ryan in the presence of a large number of the friends of the happy couple.

Following the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the Daisy street home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barone, parents of the bride, where a most sumptuous wedding breakfast was served and where the day was spent in feasting and merriment.

The young couple start out in life with bright prospect, followed by the best wishes for health, wealth and happiness of a large circle of friends.

As we have been unable to see all our friends, we take this means of inviting them to the reception this evening being given our daughter, Carrie Barone Marino, whose marriage to Reese Marino was celebrated this evening.

THIS PRETTY GIRL DEFIES AGE

BY USING ORDINARY BUTTERMILK

TO BEAUTIFY HER COMPLEXION

Tells Druggists Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Quickly Shows a Decided Improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates a beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today of your favorite cream counter and try it. You will find that they will freely return the exchange money should you be dissatisfied.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short massage with Howard's Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary."

Leopold-Loeb Case
Drags on

said he was standing on the corner of 49th street and Greenwood avenue on the night of May 22, and a maroon car (Leopold's car) came by and he saw something whizz out from it.

This, Crowe developed, was the cold chisel, wrapped in adhesive tape, that dashed young Franks' head in.

"There was fresh blood on the chisel when I picked it up," testified Hunt.

"I turned it over to the authorities," Hunt, a rich Irish attorney, rose in his seat and demonstrated how the person in the back of the car had thrown out the chisel. His antics caused both boys to smile and whisper between themselves.

Morgan A. Collins, chief of police, gave his testimony which was technical and perfunctory.

Leon Mandel II., another fellow student of Leopold's, to whom Leopold had attributed ownership of the typewriter, when he was next questioned, admitted he was "gambling with Leopold and Loeb five or six times at bridge."

"What stakes did they play for?"
asked Crowe.

"Varying stakes. Five and ten cents a point," he replied.

"What limit is that equivalent to in poker?" asked Crowe.

"I don't know," said the witness, and the first real laugh of the trial broke over the court room.

Mandell said Leopold and Loeb always played against each other. He thought the most money that ever changed hands was "around three or four hundred dollars."

Crowe was persistent in quizzing the witness hard about the gambling, for it is his contention that one of the chief motives "was desire to obtain $10,000 ransom money in order to pay gambling losses and continue to gamble."

Crowe also endeavored to bring out whether Mandell had lost much money, but defense attorneys objected, saying the court upheld them.

Charles Stranberg, a small shop keeper near Leopold's home, testified he had known the boy for 10 years.

He identified the paper on which the ransom letters were written as from his shop.

Then followed in quick succession, the shop keepers who sold the paper with which young Franks was armed, the chisel which beat his head in,
and the hydrochloric acid with which Leopold and Loeb sought to destroy the features of their young victim.

Charles England, Leopold's family chauffeur, then took the stand. It was England who shattered the carefully prepared alibi of the son of the house by telling the police that Nathan's car had been in the garage on the night he claimed he had been out riding in it.

England told his story in a thick Scandinavian accent that could scarcely be understood, and both boys —they have known him for years—laughed out loud as he spluttered thru his tale. There were five cars in the Leopold family garage, he said.

In broken English he told how the boys came to the Leopold home the morning after they had killed young Franks in the hired car. "They were busy," he said, washing up something inside the car. He offered to help them, he said, but they told him they were just washing up some wine they had spilled and which they wanted to clean up before their people discovered it.

"Did you ever see either of the boys washing a car before, or cleaning one?" asked the Swede.

No," said the Swede.

Both Richard and Nathan grinned at him from their seats, and he smile d back.

The chauffeur also identified the "murder robe."

CARPENTIER MUST WHIP TUNNEY OR HE IS DONE IN U. S. A.

New York, July 24. (INS.)—George Carpentier, French boxing idol, will have his opportunity tonight to prove that he should not be relegated to the pugilistic scrap heap.

And in staging his "comeback" Carpentier will meet Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Carpentier will have to be at his very best form to win from the pride of Greenwich Village.

Carpentier lost some caste with American fandom following his ten-round bout with Tom Gibbons when he was decisively beaten by the St.
Paul fighter. Carpentier blamed a bum ankle for his poor showing in that bout. Tonight he will have no ailli. He is in the pink of condition.

He has trained hard and faithfully for the Tunney fight. It will be his one opportunity to again mount the pugilistic ladder and hold the position in boxing circles that he did before Jack Dempsy knocked him out in Jersey
City some years ago.

Carpentier is heavier than he was the last time he fought. His added weight may stand him in good stead.
Carpentier also has done much of his training in New York, figuring this would be a help to him in tonight's affair.

He has been in New York for weeks at Great Bank.

Tunney is ready for the best battle of his career. He is going to win and win quickly, believing that in stopping the Frenchman he will fit himself in line for his one ambition—to meet Jack Dempsy for the world's title. Tunney has trained at Red Bank.

The weather today was hot, with nary a cloud in the sky. A capacity crowd is expected to be on hand when the fighters enter the ring at 10 o'clock daylight time. The promoters say that 55,000 will witness the battle and that the gate will exceed $250,000.

The preliminaries will bring together Paul Berlenbach, "knockout king" and Augie Ratner, in the semifinal of eight rounds; Harry Mason, England's lightweight champion, and Paul Fritsch, of France, eight rounds, and shorter bouts between Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul and Leo Gates, Mohawk, Indiana, Sandy Soufrot and Georges Erntioch.

Why It Will Pay You To Trade In Clearfield

The Truck Repair Shop

Starting this business, the only one of its kind in this entire section, in a small barn in the alley at rear of 217 Cherry Street, a few years ago, Frank P. Shaw has catered to the repairing of trucks only to such an extent that new and larger quarters were needed within a short time.

At the present time, the business occupies the entire first floor of the large Holmes Storge plant at the corner of William and Merrill streets. Giving the service to the truck owners of this entire section, with a new brake-lining service for all makes of cars and for general go-get-'em service, this shop is fast building for itself a reputation which is spreading far beyond the confines of this immediate section.

A Dream Awakened This Man

A certain New York man about town went to his club one evening in a bad frame of mind. Business was bad, stocks breaking wrong and the world seemed topsy-turvy with him. He found fault with his food, his favorite paper had been misplaced, his cigar tasted bad, as did the numerous potations he drank during the evening, and finally, on being "jollied" by a number of lively fellows, roundly cursed them and remarked: "To hell with everybody—I want to be entirely alone." Going into a less frequented part of the club he threw himself upon a divan and was soon asleep. And he dreamed! He was alone! The great city of New York was before him. Everything was quiet. He was absolutely alone. No one answered his bells for service. The taxis and cars were idle. The hotels and business places were deserted. He was the only soul in the great city of New York. The banks with their millions of gold were open to him. He sought food but there was none prepared and no one to cook any. Rusty tracks, sagging trolly and telephone wires, dark and dreary store fronts, idle busses and autos testified to former activities. Yet he had gained his wish—he was thoroughly alone. Not a human soul could he find. Only huge rats and dogs, made wild with hunger, were moving about. They were a constant menace to his well being. It was a continuous battle for supremacy, at the same time his hunger and rest were to be considered. Thrown constantly on the alert for self preservation, the fight for securing needed food and rest made him gaunt and his fast-growing indifference to personal care, arising from a positive demand for vigilance against hungry animal life, gave him an unkempt, slouchy appearance entirely at odds with his former well groomed self. Yes, he was alone! His wish had been gratified. What wouldn't he have given for a friend just then? Someone to talk to. Someone to fight the animals with. How small a soul he was. Alone. In a great city of splendid opportunities. But of what good, alone? He could get millions in gold, but had no one to spend it with.

Lots of public utilities but no one to run them? No lights, no pleasures. How sadly alone! He now must thoroughly realize the need of companionship. He realized for the first time in his life how utterly dependent he was upon his fellowman. He knew now that he was wrong and he only. It was the smallness of a mean man, the selfishness of an individual alone that divorced him from the pleasures of companionship. He was gnawing at the husks of discontent. He knew now the good fellowship which we extend one to another are the things which make life worth while. His soul craved the companionship of man. He was struggling in battle with the odds and ends of a morbid, selfish life. He was lonely and wanted fellowship. One cannot live alone! He awoke.

He went forth from his dream a better man. He had received the message, age old, "Love thy neighbor as thy self." He had learned, in truth, that each man is dependent upon his fellows; that it is only through co-operation and fellowship that the living of our lives worth while that homes, communities, cities and states are permanently built only upon the principles of each individual contributing his share of the joys and pleasures and assuming his share of the tears and sorrows of his fellow men.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mender Brennetti, who holds a professorship in Princeton College, N. J., is home for his summer vacation.

Rev. H. B. Conley took a relapse Tuesday night and his case became so critical that he was taken to Clearfield hospital where Dr. Waterworth is giving expert surgical attention.

Abraham Shockey, who many Curwensville people yet remember, who migrated to Nebraska about 1880, was a town visitor a few days last week and this. He is now living with a daughter at New Kensington. He was a veteran of the civil war and is now past the eighty year mark.

Walter Thompson, eldest son of late F. I. Thompson, and his wife, came in from Massachusetts yesterday for a brief visit with kin folks. "Tucker" does not seem to have lost much weight among New Hampshire hills, and still ties the scales at old time fighting weight.

George R. Fleming has gone to Pittsburgh and will enter the West Penn hospital as a patient and undergo an operation for bladder trouble.

The Adams Express office has been trimmed up inside and made to look a little more business like. The Bell telephone exchange office has also received attention at the hands of the painters, which makes the room far more pleasant for the lady operators.

Harry Foust, living in one of the new tannery houses on South Filbert street, is the proud possessor of a new son, who entered his home on Sunday.

A barn out on the Marisky place owned by Burketts' London, near the borough line, was burned to the ground at an early hour yesterday morning. The contents were also destroyed to the amount of some $500. The origin of the fire cannot be determined, as the building was in full blaze when discovered.

Word was received by relatives and friends in Curwensville yesterday of the death of Mrs. Margaret Bloom, widow of Arnold Bloom, which occurred at the soldier's widow home near Brownsville on Tuesday, aged about 78 years. Her maiden name was Lytle, a sister of John and James Lytle she being born and reared in Lawrence township. Her husband, Arnold Bloom, died on June 4, 1913. Her body arrived in Curwensville over the B. & P. at 2 o'clock this afternoon and was conveyed at once to Oak Hill cemetery and interred.

Miss Frances Schoor is home after closing a six week's term of summer school at Braddock, Pa. She has taught two successful winter terms of school in that city, and goes back for the third term.

Some twenty or more members of the Rescue Hose and Ladder company of this place went up to Gramplan last evening and were in attendance at the Firemen's Carnival being held in that village the balance of the week. Gramplan's little pumper paraded our streets yesterday afternoon and made a dandy showing.

Rolly Farwell, one of Gramplan's level headed farmers, was in town Tuesday evening attending a law suit at Squire Dale's as a spectator. Squire John Y. Rafferty, who is supposed to dispense law in all its eccentricities and forms, was also on hand and recorded the testimony, to be followed by him in any similar case which might be brought before him, all parties being agreeable.

Mrs. B. F. Mons and daughter Jane spent the week-end with friends in Lock Haven, Jersey Shore and Williamsport.

Rev. B. H. Conley, of Curwensville, who was taken seriously ill following an address made at the Klan meeting at the Henry farm last Thursday, and who has been seriously ill since that time, was brought to the Clearfield hospital and underwent an operation at the hands of Dr. Waterworth yesterday. Rev. Conley is reported as getting along very satisfactorily today.

WOODLAND WOMAN HAD STROKE EARLY TODAY

Mrs. Scott Bangor, a well known resident of Woodland, suffered a paralytic stroke at an early hour this morning. Her condition is said to be very serious.

Knitted Wool Outfit

Wedding Ring Worn on Thumb.
In the reign of George I of England fashion had something to do with the wedding ring. Large wedding rings being favored at that time, it was not unusual to see a woman wearing her wedding ring on her thumb, although it had been placed on the fourth finger during the ceremony. Wedding rings were also worn on the thumb in the middle of the seventeenth century.

Well to Forget Sorrows.
Some people board up their sorrows as a miser boards gold, and whenever they have a little leisure, they take them out and count them over as the miser counts up his treasure. The fuller your coffers are of remembered sorrows the poorer you are. Throw them away. Refuse to recall them when you can help it.—Exchange.

The Modern Shovel.

What has become of the old-fashioned minister who used to preach against laying up money, to rust and corrode while in this material sphere? The few shovels we get here no rust and they do not corrode, neither do they prey upon them, but they sometimes feel like it goes the other way, although they have not broken in upon us.—Hartford Republican.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up, as I was all run-down, nervous, and had a nervous headache and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all is that I can even sew again without that awful, nervous feeling I was used to having. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do everything from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."—Mrs. E. F. BRANNON, 404 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas.

FINDS HOME BREW PLANT IN CITY CREMATORY

Terre Haute, Ind., July 25. (INS.)—Who made beer in the city crematory, was the question this city asked itself today when it awoke to find a raid on the place by the sheriff at the instigation of Federal prohibition officer, J. Bryant who netted one still brewery, sixty pint bottles of home brew, 328 empty bottles, two coppers, and other implements of the trade. An aged man found at the crematory insisted he knew nothing of the liquor and was not arrested.

AGREEMENT NEAR ON DAWES PLAN IS LATEST REPORT

By DAVID M. CHURCH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
London, July 25.—An agreement is near on the dispute between the international bankers and the French Representatives to the Allied conference on the Dawes plan. It was learned from semi-official sources, this afternoon.

A plan offering the bankers satisfactory security for their proposed $200,000,000 loan to Germany and satisfying the French demands for right to protect France in case of default, has practically been agreed on, it was reported.

The only opposition comes from the British bankers, it was said.

Minister's Financial Advice Is Found To Be Expensive To His Flock

Rochester, N. Y., July 24. (INS.)—Because the "minister" was identified with the sale of stock in the Chemical Oil & Gas Co., of Pittsburgh, a number of Rochester men and women invested in the concern, some of them going so far as to raise money with which to buy stock by obtaining mortgages on their homes.

Today the minister, Rev. Fred J. Tower, former pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church and former Superintendent for the Anti-Saloon League in the Albany District, is under indictment here in connection with the Grand Jury's investigation into the activities of the Pittsburgh Company. Tower has arrived in Rochester from Pennsylvania where he has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

Tower charges him with working George E. Burgess, former evangelist, who is now in Cleveland. One of the two bills handed down against Tower, charges him with working Burgess in inducing Henry C. Taillie and his wife to mortgage their property for $6,000 and invest the money in the Chemical Oil & Gas Company. Burgess is alleged to have disposed of the bulk of the $600,000 worth of stock in the Company which was sold in this vicinity.

Secret'y Clyde L. King And Wife Have Agreed To Separate; Home At Harrisburg Is Closed

Springfield, Pa., July 25 (INS.)—Mrs. Clyde L. King, wife of the secretary of the Commonwealth, has confirmed the report that she and her husband have agreed to separate. Neither party will seek a divorce, according to Mrs. King. The family home here has been closed for several weeks.

"LOCK THEM UP FOR SAFETY, THESE WITNESSES UNNECESSARY," SAYS MR. DARROW; "NOTHING DOING, WE WILL HANG THEM," SAYS ATTORNEY CROWE

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Chicago, July 25.—A battle of alienists such as no court trial has ever witnessed, not even excepting the Thaw case, was forecast today as the State of Illinois resumed its deadly hammering home of evidence designed to send young Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard A. Loeb to the gallows for murdering little Robert Franks.

They kidnapped him, beat his head in with a chisel, strangled and stripped his body of clothes, then hid it in a water drain—all "for a thrill." They admit it.

Nearly half a hundred witnesses have passed through the box in Justice Caverly's court and told of the gruesome details. Almost the same number of grizzly exhibits, blood-clotted and ugly, have been displayed.

Nearly half a hundred more witnesses will yet tell their stories, add their bit to the "mountain of evidence on which State's Attorney Crowe says he will hang them, before two sets of scientific men take the stand and give conflicting opinions as to the normality of minds that could conceive and execute such a wanton crime.

And through it all, Leopold and Loeb, the sprightly young collegians, have laughed.

They smiled when Crowe held aloft the bloody cold chisel which one of them wielded on young Franks' head, they smiled when he ran through his fingers the rope with which they suffocated the boy; they gawped out right as the Scandinavian servant in their homes gave broken English blows to their carefully prepared alibis.

These laughs, these guffaws, this debonair and unfeeling attitude, are considered significant. They are being watched closely and weighed carefully.

All around the crowded, musty old court room sit alienists taking notes, making observations. When the time comes, probably next week, the psychologists will swing into action.

Until then, what Clarence Darrow calls the "unnecessary part" of the epochal case will go on. Darrow is chief counsel for the two youths. He says all this going over the story of the plot and the murder, all this parade of witnesses with their damning facts, is "unnecessary." The boys have admitted the plot and the murder.

"Give them life, sentences and end it," Darrow says.

"Nothing doing—We will hang them," says Crowe.

And the show goes on.

Crowe is taking no chances. He is making his case as rock-ribbed and fool proof as it is possible for a murder case to be made with the evidence at hand; he is completing record against the time when it is possible a hanging verdict will be appealed.

There are persistent rumors of a coup on the part of Darrow and the defense, something brilliant, unexpected and spectacular—such as characterized his action on Monday when he unexpectedly withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded his charges guilty of murder, a most unusual proceeding.

Darrow is feared and respected by his legal opponents.

An evidence of this is seen from the fact that court attaches, hardened and experienced in a thousand murder trials, are betting even money in the corridors on a verdict of hanging or life imprisonment.

The defense is taking a long chance on convincing Justice Caverly, sitting both as Judge and Jury, that the two dapper young collegians are intellectually and morally abnormal.

"Dickie" Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., planned and executed the kidnapping and brutal slaying of young Franks with consummate skill, and attention to detail that any fictional villain might well envy.

Had it not been for the accidental loss of a pair of glasses of Leopold's near the culvert wherein they stuffed the boy's naked body, it is doubtful if they ever would have been apprehended.

Their counsel, backed up by the best alienists that money can hire, are getting ready to recite all this, and point to the boys' unprecedented demeanor in court, and ask:

TELEPHONE GIRL STICKS TO POST SAVES VILLAGE

Monroe, Mich., July 25. (INS.)—Miss Maxine Turner, telephone operator, saved the village of Carleton, ten miles north of here, from destruction by fire early today.

Miss Turner called fire departments in neighboring cities and they were able to stop the flames after three buildings had been destroyed with loss of $100,000.

Diplomats Not Satisfied With Persian Apology For The Imbrie Murder

London, July 25. (INS.)—The diplomatic corps is dissatisfied with the Persian government's reply to its collective note of protest following the recent murder of Robert W. Imbrie, American vice consul by a mob of religious fanatics, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail today from Tehran.

The government's reply, the dispatch said, disclaimed responsibility for the attack and made excuses for the inaction of the police who were reported to have stood idly by and watched the mob beat the American to death and seriously injure Melin Seymour, another American.

Beefsteak And Onion Dinner Served Rotes At Goshen Gun Club

The members of the Clearfield Rotary Club, to the number of fifty, were the guests yesterday afternoon and evening at Goshen Gun Club House of Rotarians Hobart Callahan and Fred B. Leavy. These Rotarians, who are also members of the Goshen Club got up a toothsome beefsteak dinner which was very much enjoyed by the pair mentioned, but cooked and served as well by Callahan and Leavy who were assisted at this end of it by Joe Chase and "Peggy" Orr.

Following the feed the regular weekly meeting of Rotary was held with President Gurney Smith presiding. The address of the evening was made by Harry Hallock of Columbus, Ohio, who for three or four years has been working for the crippled children of Ohio by the building up of a state wide organization out of which come free care, cure and education, for every crippled child in that great state.

For ten years prior to engaging in this great crippled children work, Harry Hallock was connected with the Ohio State government at Columbus, O., in a position where he was the legal guardian and protector of 1000 crippled children of the state. It was during this time that he had brought to his mind so forcibly the sad fact that his state did no more than appoint guardians to act as foster parents to crippled children, and this in spite of the fact that it was

BUTLER TO STICK, HE TELLS THE POLICE MOST EMPHATICALLY

Philadelphia, July 25. (INS.)—General Smedley Butler has served emphatic notice on his political enemies that he has no intention of resigning as director of public safety until his term of office expires.

In a talk here yesterday to a group of police inspectors, the director effectively spiked all rumors that have been going the rounds since his alleged break with the mayor two weeks ago to the effect that he was anxious to return to the Marine Corps and would not consider remaining here after January 5 next.

"Don't be misled by the idea that I am going to quit," said the director. "Remember I was appointed for four years and I'm going to stay until I'm kicked out."

The general heatedly denied reports that he and Mayor Kendrick are at sword's points and called on the men to renew their allegiance to the mayor's announced policies.

The two are scheduled to meet today for the first time in two weeks at the ball game between Philadelphia and Camden police. Director Butler has agreed to catch the first inning for the Quaker City coppers.

Butler's announcement that he desires to remain here after his year's leave of absence expires in January puts the matter squarely up to Mayor Kendrick. President Coolidge has already stated he will grant Butler another year of grace from the Marine Corps after the mayor requests it.

Hundreds Flocked To The Play Ground Picnic At The Park Yesterday P. M.

The four playgrounds held an outing yesterday at the Driving Park and several hundred children from ages one to sixteen years enjoyed the activities. Each playground had a good following and rooted for their respective teams in the different contests. The playground leaders were in charge, Miss Dorothy Robb of West Side, Miss Margaret Jane Overly of East End, Miss Elizabeth Wall of Wilmer Park, and Miss Kathryn Thorn of Reedsville. The activities were under the supervision of Y. M. C. A. Director of Physical Education G. Leslie Shannon.

The girls' volleyball league got under way at the picnic, resulting in Reedsville taking three straight from Wilmer Park while in the second contest East End won two games after losing the first game to West Side.

One of the features of the picnic was the grand peanut scramble and race. The boys and girls were divided and each had their own race, resulting in William Callahan coming first with 84 "goobers," while Catherine Bobby was first with the girls, 78 double jointed jumbos.

The sack race held the attention of the crowd of happy youngsters for a long time and different heats were won by Mable Bloom of Reedsville, Dorothy Gano of East End and Caroline Cietara of Wilmer Park. The Reedsville boys, Martin Walker and Barton Hill, won their heats.

Only one match was played in the horse shoe contest, owing to the time and other activities, Reedsville taking

PENNSY-GRAMS

Connellsville.—Authorities are today seeking the murderer of Andrew Cristo, who had been missing for more than a week. Cristo's body was found in a field between this city and Uniontown yesterday. A bullet hole was in his skull. Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the murder, police say.

Bedford.—David and Jacob Koonrod ate a $100 meal a few days ago. However, it was only yesterday that they had to pay for the repast. The two Koonrods are said to have crossed the state line into Maryland and killed a wild turkey out of season, returned to Pennsylvania, dressed and cooked and ate the fowl. Upon complaint of Deputy Game Warden Joseph Weaver of Maryland the men were arrested near Englestown and fined $50 and costs each.

Uniontown.—There will be 11 women grand jurors on the grand jury during the first week of September. This is the largest number of women ever serving in Fayette county.

Philadelphia.—Anthony Maxtranton 34, was arrested here for firing three shots at his 13-year-old sweetheart, Rose Carvone. None of the bullets took effect. Maxtranton was described as a "too ardent" suitor.

Yellow Dogs Formally Celebrate Opening Of Irvin Park Pavilion

Yellow Dogs for miles around trekked into Curwensville last evening in answer to the "ki-yi's" of Chief Cur Grant Norris for the purpose of participating in the ceremonies incidental to the first meeting in the recently completed pavilion at Irvin Park.

This pavilion, which was erected at a considerable cost, is a monument to the tireless energy of Chief Cur Norris and his Curwensville kennel, the members of which united in a public spirited move to equip the town's beautiful rest and recreational ground with suitable buildings. The present one is the first step in that direction and goes to show what can be accomplished by intelligently directed, unselfish community effort.

A large class of mangy curs, including a bunch from Clearfield, were qualified for entry into polite canine society during the evening, the initiatory ceremonies being especially well handled.

The Yellow Dogs will stage a mammoth Labor Day celebration at Curwensville, and as Clearfield and all the other surrounding towns will lay off on celebrations this year and assist in making the Curwensville celebration the success it should be, a record-breaking crowd is looked for at the beautiful little up-river town.

COLLISION AT CORNER OF SECOND AND CHERRY

One of the Ford delivery trucks of the Clearfield Laundry and the car of Mrs. Fred Pilkington, of Fourth street, came together at the corner of Second and Cherry streets, shortly before the noon hour, today. Mrs. Pilkington, coming down Second street, attempted to turn into Cherry as "St. Mann" endeavored to come out of Cherry into Second with the laundry truck. "St. Mann" had Misses Kline and Cochran of the laundry force in the car with him. Miss Cochran had one of her fingers cut by flying glass from a broken windshield. The injury, which was slight, was treated by Dr. G. B. Yeane. Nobody else was hurt in the wreck.

The Ford had two wheels snapped off, while the Pilkington car was also banged up some. A third car traveling up Second street was a factor in causing the mishap.

"ROB" NAMES PARTY "PROGRESSIVE" PARTY

Washington, July 25.—The "Progressive" party came into existence today as the official designation for the standard carried by Senator Robert M. LaFollette in his independent drive for the White House.

The party name was chosen officially by the "committee of eleven" which will direct the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign. It will be used in every state in which the LaFollette forces establish an independent ticket of presidential electors.

The party emblem will be the Liberty Bell.

Graduation Exercises Of Local Bible School Next Thursday Evening

The School is going along with increasing interest. Plans are maturing for the Graduation and Picnic.

A special invitation is hereby given to the parents of the children of the Primary Department to visit that Department, meeting in the Lutheran church on Tuesday morning, July 29th.

The teachers and pupils will be glad to welcome all the parents who can come. But be there at 9:15 sharp. The sweetest exercises are carried on. As to the picnic the School can provide transportation to the Park for only the members of the School. The school is so large the transportation of any others cannot be considered. All those not attending the School should provide their own transportation if they plan to spend the picnic day at Irvin Park.

Parents are welcome to spend the day with their children if they provide their own transportation to the Park and take their lunch with them.

The graduation exercises will be carried out in Trinity Methodist church, Thursday, July 31 at 7:30. Some beautiful exercises are being planned and everybody is most cordially invited. You will be pleased.

The Assembly takes place at 10 o'clock each morning of the School. All are welcome to visit the assembly. The boys and girls have much to do themselves in this period. Inspiring addresses are given by ministers.

The expenses are heavy and any public spirited adult of Clearfield caring to do so, can help by sending any sized contribution to J. Lewis Irwin, Chairman of the Committee or to W. E. Brown, Secretary of the Committee. The School is worth while.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. J. S. Stone, of 402, 11th street celebrated the anniversary of her birth last evening by a six o'clock dinner at her home. All the family were there and a few intimate friends and neighbors. Among the family present were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stone, of Irwona; Mrs. Lloyd Turner and family of Woodland; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stone and family and Mr. and Mrs. Milk Stone and family.

BASEBALL DO'E

The DuBois Elks team managed to keep right at Clearfield's heels, one-half game from the top, by winning from Philipsburg at Scott Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 9 to 3. Johnny Zortman pitched for DuBois and the Philipsburg sluggers were not able to do much with him.

10 Year Old Chester Hill Boy Steps From One Car In Front Of Another; Injuries Kill

Picnic joy and festivities were swiftly changed into tragic sorrow in Chester Hill Wednesday afternoon July 24th, as the result of an automobile accident which proved fatal to Robert Peters, who, with his parents, was on his way to the Chester Hill community picnic at Lakeside Park, Morrisdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters and their three children had started in their car from their home on Idle street for the picnic grounds and had stopped at Pearson's store along the state highway, in Chester Hill, to make a few purchases.

The boy, it is reported, insisted on going for the purchases after they had stopped. He was cautioned to watch for the passing cars, as it was necessary to cross the highway to reach the store. He stood on the running board while several automobiles passed in both directions, and then stepped off, seemingly having failed to see the automobile approaching from Philipsburg. Though the driver of the car, John O'Connor, of Franklin, Pa., made every effort to avoid running the lad down, he failed.

The accident happened about 2:30 and the injured boy was at once hurried to the McGirk sanitarium and later in the afternoon was removed to the Philipsburg State hospital. He passed away at 7:30 in the evening, about two hours after having been admitted. He had a fracture of the jaw and of the skull.

Robert Ellsworth Peters was born at Chester Hill on Sept. 28, 1914. He was a bright and happy lad and the parents are receiving the sympathy of the whole community in their grief over the terrible affair. Deceased the parents, two sisters, Louise and Jane both younger than he, survive.

BELL FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion of the William Bell family will be held on Sunday, July 27, at the home of Lewis Jury of LaConto Mills. There will be 32 members there to enjoy the day together. Among those who are from a distance will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Rhodes and daughter, Agnes, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foll and son Donald, of Colver, Cambria county, Pa.; Miss Agnes Bell and Miss Jeannette Bray, of Hensdale, Ill.

MURRAY PICNIC POSTPONED

Owing to I. O. O. F. picnic being held on reunion day Murray Reunion will be held the following Saturday Aug. 10th. Friends are invited.

MADE COMPLETE PREPARATIONS FOR HIS FUNERAL

Madrid, July 25 (INS.)—Senor Roque, a merchant, deciding on suicide, visited his relatives and invited them to attend his funeral which he said would be held today. Then he went to an undertaker where he purchased a casket and made arrangements for the funeral.

After visiting a municipal judge and requesting him to call later for his body, he went to his home and hanged himself.

Aviation Occupies Unique Position In Today's News

Globe Flyers Planning To Make Test Cruise Today Before Crossing Waters

Brough, Eng., July 25. (INS.)—The American round the world flyers planned to make a test flight today to be sure their planes are in perfect condition for the long flight across the Atlantic. Mechanics put the final touches on the pontoons, the most important part of the overhauling.

Miss Genevieve McCloskey, of Philadelphia, is visiting her aunt Mrs. Lola Merry and other relatives at present.

Italian Flyer Will Fly Across Atlantic With U. S. Globe Circlers

Rome, July 25.—Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator, hopped off today on a round the world flight from Pisa. He will fly to Brough, England and will accompany the American flyers across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Wm. Summers and Mrs. Lola Merry spent Thursday with Mrs. Reuben Bonnell at her home of Lumber City Road.

MacLaren Nearing Point Where He Must Fly Across Pacific Ocean

Tokio, July 25. (INS.)—A Stuart MacLaren, British round the world flyer, and his three companions have arrived at Petropavlovsk capital of the Russian province of Kamchatka, a peninsula north of the Kurile Islands and almost directly across the Pacific from Prince Rupert, Canada.

Mrs. Richard S. Paterson, of Philadelphia is visiting at the home of her grandmother in Curwensville.

Runaway Balloon Flies Over Providence, R. I., With Ropes Trailing

Providence, R. I., July 25. (INS.)—A big observation balloon which broke away at the Lakehurst, N. J., air port today passed over this city shortly before 10 o'clock today. The covering was badly torn and a number of ropes trailed from the runaway "ship."

Thousands watched the balloon come up Narragansett Bay and sail over the city.

"Shenandoah" Successful In 500 Mile Flight Over Scranton, Wilkes-Barre

Lakehurst, N. J., July 25. (INS.)—Completing a successful test flight of more than 500 miles, the navy dirigible "Shenandoah" was brought to the ground here this morning, after hovering over the field for more than six hours because of unfavorable wind and weather conditions.

The "Shenandoah" returned to its station at 8:45 o'clock last night from its flight to Scranton, Pa., and Binghamton, N. Y.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The Germans are getting ready for something. Just what, isn't clear. But the government centered in Berlin is spending less than it's collecting in taxes and so on—saving as much as $5,000,000 a week.

This results from the 20 per cent increase in taxes.

The European situation begins to look more promising, with money piling up in Germany for reparations. Or will it be used for that?

The strength of Senator LaFollette is indicated by the growing number of high politicians deserting the old parties and joining the LaFollette banner.

He started off with only Senators Shipstead and Magnus Johnson, of Minnesota, as his avowed supporters. He has been joined by Senator Ladd and Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, both Republicans.

He has been joined by Senator Wheeler, of Montana, who stars with Senator Walsh as the Gold Dust Twins engaged in cleaning up corruption in the Federal Government.

Senator Wheeler has accepted the nomination for Vice-President on the LaFollette ticket, which thereby becomes a true non-partisan progressive ticket.

Nor does this represent the end of desertions. The LaFollette people confidently hope to be joined by the fighting Missouri Senator, James A. Reed, the brainiest man and the best orator on the Democratic side of the Senate.

There is a further group of influential politicians who can be counted upon to give passive if not active support to the Presidential candidacy of LaFollette. This group includes Republican Senators Brookhart, of Iowa; Norris, of Nebraska; and the Democratic Senator, Dill, of Washington, all three of whom were helped in their last elections by the personal assistance of Senator LaFollette.

It is hard to see how Hiram Johnson, of California, can keep very far away from the LaFollette band wagon. He has been thrown down by the Old Guard Republican machine which controls California. Through the opposition of this Old Guard he was overwhelmingly defeated by Coolidge in the Presidential primaries. Johnson is a Progressive and has no future except in Progressive ranks.

The same must be said of Senator Borah, of Idaho. He refused the Vice Presidential nomination with Coolidge.

Idaho, seems one of certain of those that are for the LaFollette column in the November elections. The Idaho Progressives, who nearly elected their candidate for Governor in 1922, are concerned that election this year.

The politicians have their ears to the ground and are the first to note the widespread rumble of popular dissatisfaction with the status of politics.

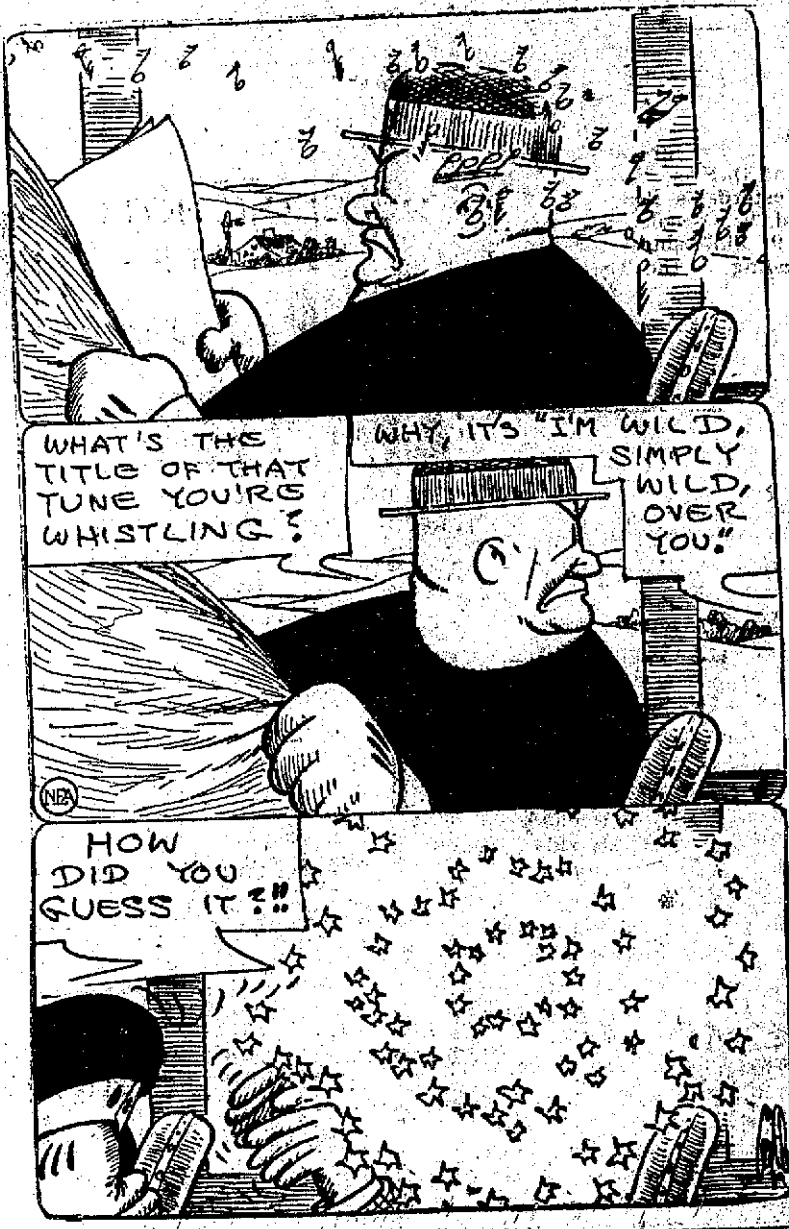

PROMINENT CATHOLIC BISHOP IS DEAD
Charlotte, N. C. July 25 (INS).—Right Rev. Leo Haid, Bishop of North Carolina, Dean of the Catholic Hierarchy of America and since July 1886 Abbot of Belmont Catholic Abbey, 127 miles from here, is dead here today following several weeks illness.

William Kramer, formerly of Akron, Ohio, who has been a resident of Clearfield for some time, was called to his former home today by the death of his father.

Miss Lib Halfpenny of McGees Mills spent yesterday in town.

caring for, curing and educating in state institutions or at state expense all other classes of defective children. The state had gone so far as to make a survey so when various societies such as the Society for Crippled Children, the Rotary Clubs, The Elks, The Shrine and others got together with the idea of having the state attempt a correction of children's physical defects, Harry Haddock was the man put in charge of building the legislation and getting it placed on the statute books. As a result of that effort, hundreds of Ohio children are now romping at play who would otherwise be bed-ridden for life, others are hop-skipping who heretofore had to use crutches, etc.

Mr. Haddock, at the solicitation of many good men and fine organizations of the state will stay in Pennsylvania for some time. He wants our children made well as well as Ohio's and we know the public will respond to his efforts.

BUYERS OF VACATION NEEDS WILL FIND MUCH OF INTEREST HERE TOMORROW

SAVE THE CHILDREN

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Once again it is made clear that laws never really cure evils. Is something wrong? There ought to be a law. It's the old refrain. Now it's the burning question of child labor. As long as little children toil in mines and fields and factories, while grown men and women live of the products of their toil, every citizen ought to hang his head in shame. But so far, efforts to pass laws to put an end to this evil have only proved how difficult it is to arrive at a true justice through legislative measures. It is true that most of the opposition so far, has come from employers who profit by the labor of children. One can have scant sympathy for their point of view. Better a few dividends cut in two than that little children should stand all day with aching backs and weary feet, in the blazing sun or the stifling air of factories. There is another source of complaint from those people who do not believe in the increasing tendency toward centralization of government, and the gradual limiting of the right of each state to govern itself. These people have a right to their convictions because centralized rulings of this kind have proved to be dangerous. But in this case, if a just plan of limiting child labor could be arrived at, a state could well afford to waive its rights for so noble an end.

THE VERDICT AGAINST "PITTSBURGH PLUS"

The decision of the Federal Trade Commission abolishing "Pittsburgh Plus" is the first victory for eleven State Legislatures, 6,000,000 farmers and the people of twenty-eight Western and Southern States in their long fight against the steel industry. There is hardly a farmer in America, who does not know and condemn "Pittsburgh Plus." Nor any steel user who has not felt the burden of what Steel defends as an "immemorial custom."

What is "Pittsburgh Plus" South and West it is a battletory raised against about 260 steel producers. It has been defined as that practice in the steel industry whereby all rolled steel, except rails—regardless of where it is made—is sold at a delivered price which consists of the mill price at Pittsburgh, plus the amount of freight from Pittsburgh to destination.

This "plus" goes into the coffers of the steel mills. It works like this. There is at Pueblo, Col., a steel mill producing 1,250,000 tons yearly. Across the road from the mill Pueblo made steel is going into a new building. That steel must "pay the freight" from Pittsburgh, adding $24 to the cost of every ton of it.

Chicago is in the heart of the Western steel district. Until 1923, when terrific pressure forced the establishment of a Chicago "base price," steel made at Gary, Joliet and South Chicago paid a phantom freight of $6.80 per ton. Yet in 1918, at Duluth, Judge Gary, of United States Steel, admitted that the cost of Gary steel was 13.12 per cent less than the cost of Pittsburgh steel.

Birmingham produces 1,500,000 tons of steel annually. Its "plus," once $15.20 per ton, has been cut to $5; but Birmingham must still pay that much tribute. Before the ten per cent rate cuts, Philadelphia, producing 4,500,000 tons annually, paid a $7 "plus" per ton on her own steel and was charged $7 instead of the actual $2.90 paid on steel from Bethlehem. New York was charged $7.60 instead of the actual $3.20 paid for freight from Bethlehem steel.

"Pittsburgh Plus" grew out of the old "steel pools" and "Gary dinners." Established about 1904, it began functioning when these were outlawed or discontinued. Its defense by Steel may be thus summarized: It is a result of the law of supply and demand. Since Pittsburgh is the only surplus-production district, this practice is essential to the stabilization of the industry. No new mills can be built if it is abolished. Its going will mean market chaos, would benefit few and, finally, it has existed throughout the life of the American steel industry.

In the face of this defense, the Federal Trade Commission has found for the plaintiffs, and these findings may be condensed as follows:

"Pittsburgh Plus" is a price-fixing scheme that has succeeded the old "steel pools" and "Gary dinners." It is a monopoly contrary to the public interest and is in no way based on the law of supply and demand, but is made possible only by the dominant position of United States Steel in the industry. It is a price discrimination, destroying competition, in violation of the Clayton Act and of the Federal Trade Commission Act. Further, it adds unnecessary millions to the small steel bill of America, and specifically it adds $30,000,000 yearly to the cost of steel products used by farmers of eleven Western States.

The farm angle of "Pittsburgh Plus" is a most significant one. Of every 100 users of rolled steel, seventy-five are farmers. Farms absorb three-sevenths of all steel and iron made. Since most farm implements are made an average of 500 miles west of Pittsburgh, this phantom freight hits the farmer hard. Prior to the general 10 per cent freight reduction there was $1.93 "plus" in every corn planter, $3.61 in a disk harrow, $6.88 in a grain binder, and $19.80 in the farm tractor.

The farm clamor against it was taken up in 1920 by the American Farm Bureau. In the mid-West it became a political question. Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, used it in his 1922 campaign. Senator La Follette and his followers have harped on it for years. It has been one of the favorite grievances of the farm agitator. The order for its abolition will echo and re-echo through the 1924 campaign.

The Trade Commission has made a decision of far-reaching importance. If the death verdict stands through the courts, there will be radical changes in the steel industry. Its bases must shift and its methods of marketing and distribution will be junked. Steel must say good-by to a vast tribute it has exacted for a generation. With the passing of this phantom freight charge Pittsburgh may lose its long-threatened domination in steel. It may be that eventually the lower end of Lake Michigan will be the steel area of North America. If so, the region where Illinois and Indiana come up to meet the lake will become the heart of a very powerful industrial empire. The end of "Pittsburgh Plus" is Pittsburgh's loss and Chicago's and the mid-West's gain. What this may mean to business, manufacture, to trade and the existing channels of trade only the future can reveal. (Public Ledger.)

WHAT ABOUT STEEL NOW?

A popular belief, apparently supported by statistics of the industry, is that the United States Steel Corporation could, if it cared to do so by offering the competition of which it is capable, control the iron and steel business to the great disadvantage of the independent concerns. That it could monopolize the industry no sane person affects to believe, because its productive capacity in its particular lines is not 50 per cent of the country's productive capacity. United States Steel possesses advantages in the ownership of sources of raw materials and transportation facilities for the same superior to any other concerns in the industry. Its business policy, pursued ever since its organization, has given it financial strength probably unrivaled. If ever a company were positioned to bring disaster to competitors through straight competitive methods the Steel Corporation is. Yet it has been its policy to let others live. The stabilization of the steel industry is fairly attributable to this company.

Now comes the Federal Trade Commission with an order to the Steel Corporation to discontinue selling its rolled products on the system known as "Pittsburgh Plus." It calls for elimination of a stabilizing device that, if it profits United States Steel, has not damaged competitive concerns. On the face of the statements that have been made "Pittsburgh Plus" appears unfair to some buyers of steel products. But that in its broader aspects it is not generally beneficial has not been demonstrated. The evils of unrestrained competition have been so often revealed that the order of the Federal Trade Commission is received with misgivings in many places. If the Steel Corporation's price structure is broken down that of its competitors cannot be maintained, however essential to them it may be.

"Pittsburgh Plus" is held by the Commission to be violative of the Clayton Act. Presumably the courts will be asked to pass on this question. The Steel Corporation will submit to the law. But the condition which might follow upon enforcement of the Commission's order conceivably would tend to less general satisfaction than that which it sought to abolish. (Gazette Times.)

WAS HAPPY EVENT

The public reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Moore last evening following the wedding of their daughter, Miss Carrie Moore, to Ross Marston, was a particularly happy gathering. Several hundred young people attended and enjoyed the occasion immensely. The reception was held in the big hall on the second floor of the Marston garage. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served to all.

the contest with Witmer Park.

In the playground ball league, Witmer Park lost to East End 7 to 8, and also lost to West Side, 8 to 14. The league will continue this afternoon, Redsville going to East End and West Side going to Witmer Park.

The favorite refreshments outside of the big lunches each boy and girl brought was the ice cream cone, nearly four hundred being consumed. The kiddies all want to know when the next one will be as they want to bring their friends along to enjoy the day.

33 LESS PEOPLE DIE THAN LAST YEAR AT GRADE CROSSINGS

Harrisburg, Pa., July 25, (INS)—Thirty-three fewer people were killed in railroad grade crossing accidents in Pennsylvania during the first six months of this year than during a similar period of 1923, according to John P. Doherty, chief of the Bureau of Accidents of the Public Service Commission.

The decrease is forty per cent lower than during the first half of last year. The total number of accidents for the first six months of 1923 was 483 while this year it dropped to 409, Mr. Doherty said.

During the first half of last year 82 people were killed at crossings as compared with 49 for the early half of 1924. Of this number in 1923 twenty-nine fatalities occurred at protected crossings which is twelve more than the similar period of 1924. The number killed at unprotected crossings last year was 53 as compared with 31 in 1924.

Automobiles figured to a large extent in the accidents at grade crossings during the six months period ending June 30, 1924, the bureau record discloses. Of the 409 accidents 357 automobiles were involved which is 87 per cent of the total. Thirty-four people were killed and 186 other injured. Eighty-four per cent of the casualties at grade crossings during the early part of the year were caused by automobiles.

A closer analysis of the automobile figures show that twenty-nine machines were stalled on the tracks and struck by trains resulting in the death of one person and the injury of 11 others. Eleven cars were driven through lowered gates and struck by trains causing two deaths and the injury of 8 occupants. Six people were killed and 47 injured during the six month period when 95 automobiles were driven into the side of trains or trains moving over crossings.

During the same period 391 automobiles, 19 auto-buses and taxi cabs, 3 motorcycles, 7 wagons and 4 street cars were driven through lowered crossing gates but did not collide with trains. This is a total of 424 as compared with 347 for the same period in 1923.

Accidents of street railways in the State for the same comparative period increased from 1084 in 1923 to 1222 this year, the announcement says. Of this number 66 were killed this year which is an increase of 23 and the number injured jumped from 1284 in 1923 to 1415 this year. Fourteen of the 66 killed this year were trespassers, 7 passengers and three employees. The others were non-trespassers.

Apparatus Separates Parasites From Soil

Ingenious Flotation Device of Dr. Cobb Is Valuable.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In studying the nemas which exist in the soil and which, in many cases, cause diseases of plants such as root-rot and certain rots, there has been much difficulty in separating the organisms from the soil. Most of these threadlike parasites are extremely small and cannot be picked out by ordinary methods; neither can they be washed out readily. However, Dr. N. A. Cobb of the United States Department of Agriculture has devised an ingenious flotation apparatus which affords valuable aid in removing nemas from a sample of soil.

The apparatus consists essentially of a hollow cylinder several inches in diameter and three or four feet high, tapering for about a foot to a small opening at the bottom and provided with a spout near the top. This cylinder is fastened to a circular rotating table or frame which is turned at a moderate speed by a motor while the nema-free water is run in from the bottom by turning a graduated tap. The soil sample is mixed with a small quantity of water and then poured quickly into the rotating cylinder when it is about a quarter full of water. The rotation destroys any disturbing up-and-down currents which might interfere with the separation, as in some of the separating machines.

Nemas sink very slowly and the rise of the water is so regulated by the tap that it will a little more than counteract their fall. As a result the small particles which are heavier sink to the bottom and the nemas are lifted to the top. When the rising column of muddy water reaches the upper opening it is spouted with the contained nemas into a vessel set on the rotating table to catch the overflow. When all the nemas are collected in this vessel they are allowed to settle to the bottom. The water is drawn off and a slimy mass containing the nemas in much greater concentration is found in the bottom. They may then be removed and examined under the microscope. By this method also the number of nemas in a given quantity of soil may be estimated.

Mississippi Girls Work for Pure Bred Poultry

Pure bred poultry is receiving encouragement in Mississippi through the interest of a leading merchant in Laurel, Jones county, who gave twenty settings of pure bred Rhode Island Red eggs to twenty "4H" poultry club members. These girls were required to raise as many as possible of the chicks hatched and keep all except one pullet, which was returned to the donor. The twenty pullets which came back were made into five pens, to each of which a cock was added. The five pens were then given to five other girls in the county, who were to own the chickens. Each of these girls, however, promised to send in a setting of eggs to be distributed in turn to other girls.

Eleven of the original girls succeeded with the project, according to a report received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The two who failed were allowed to try again. This plan has proved an excellent means of interesting club girls in the production of pure bred poultry, and many of their neighbors have also become interested.

Cropping System Helped by Growing Soy Beans

Soy beans as a soil building crop which would also furnish an economical protein feed supplement have been given a thorough trial by Blackford county (Ind.) farmers on the advice of their agricultural extension agent. The rapid increase in the acreage planted to the crop in the county indicates that they found it a valuable addition to their cropping system. Five years ago, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, only a few farmers in the county grew soy beans, but in 1922 approximately 3,850 acres were grown with corn and 500 acres were grown alone for seed and hay.

FARM NOTES

If you are dissatisfied with your lot, grow a garden on it.

Don't guess at the moisture conditions of your land. Bore into it and be certain.

Marketing eggs by basket is rapidly giving way to the new-fashion method of co-operative selling.

Failure to treat cuts for smut the last few years has cost growers at least three and a half bushels an acre.

Song and game birds are friends of the farmer. Protect and encourage them and they will reduce the losses from insects.

If you wish to improve the quality of your flock without serious expense the best thing to do is to cull out a pen of the choicest birds and hatch their eggs.

Seeding alfalfa without a nurse crop in the early spring is often a risky proposition, particularly if the ground has not been worked over as much as it should have been.

Stepping stones.

Doing the best you can is the practice you need to help you do better.

WOOD'S PART IN GAMES

Where would our games be without trees? All are dependent upon wood for their existence, says the London Tit-Bits. Football is one of the few that could dispense with it, for the goal posts and the flag sticks could be made of some other material, but wood is the most convenient. To cricket wood is indispensable. Where should we be without willows from which our bats are made and ash for the wickets? But a bat needs other woods as well as willow. To help to make the handle springy cane is introduced for splicing, rubber (the product of another tree) frequently being let into the handle to give it greater "spring." A bat made entirely of willow, without any splicing, would have no "spring" at all, and a player would not be able to hit a hard ball owing to the "sting." Ash is used in many ways in sport. The best frames of lawn tennis and badminton rackets are made from it; so are hockey sticks and the cheaper varieties of croquet mallets. Bows and arrows and billiard cues are also made principally from ash. Cane seems to be the only satisfactory wood for splicing, and it is used in the handles of hockey sticks and tennis rackets to impart "spring." The better woods, such as ebony and mahogany, are used to weight the butts of billiard cues. The heads of golf clubs are usually made of beech, as are croquet balls. Hickory or greenheart provides the shafts of golf clubs and fishing rods. From lancewood are made the finest bows for archery; this wood is also used for high grade cricket stumps.

Alarming possibilities of the radio are seen with every new development. Now it is reported from Dawson that radio apparatus is making its appearance in the Yukon, and the worst feature of the report is that residents at that far northern latitude are able to hear the jazz music that emanates from New York, San Francisco and other cities, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "Dance halls at Miller Creek and Keno Mills," we are told, "have experimented and found that they can tune in on radio concerts for their jazz music." This is something that might have been foreseen, but it is, indeed, news of dire portent. American jazz, from which there is no escape at home and which already has made a successful invasion of certain foreign countries, is destined to be carried by the radio to the uttermost ends of the earth. What will be the consequence no one can tell.

The derivation of dog names recently formed the subject of an interesting discourse by a widely-known dog fancier. The spaniel, it seems, was so called because the original breed of this type came from Spain, says the Detroit News. The Blenheim spaniel got his name from Blenheim palace, where this dog first gained popularity in the time of the great duke of Marlborough. In the same way the King Charles spaniel owes its name to the merry monarch. Fox terriers did not gain their name from a likeness to a fox, but from the fact that formerly they were used in hunting foxes. Many years ago they were sent by their masters down the fox burrow to draw and kill their quarry. It was in those days a saying that a good terrier never came out of a burrow without a fox.

Outside of certain strips and centers where arteries of travel cross, Paris has no night life. In a good 2,500 of her 2,722 streets one gets the impression at nine o'clock that everybody has gone to bed, and, at ten, that all the inhabitants have either moved to the country or died, says Scribner's Magazine. In the little cafes and restaurants of my quarter, as it draws toward ten the waiters begin to regard you with an evil eye, and at ten they pile up the chairs on the empty tables and begin to sweep the floor. Even in the larger ones, which keep open an hour or two longer, you experience, at eleven o'clock, the very disagreeable sensation of the man in the old song who felt "like one who treads alone some banquet hall deserted."

Fastidious fancy is difficult to fathom where values are concerned. A dinosaur's egg is old and useless, but is expected to bring thousands of dollars. As a practical proposition a hen's egg is far more worthy of consideration. The kitchen is still fortunate in not being obliged to compete with the curio collection.

References to American diplomacy as inferior to that of the old world are frequent. Americans are usually quick to learn almost any kind of a game, though loath to be particular as to the kind of rules under which they play.

Another reason why we expect very little from the new truth serum is, even if it be efficacious the supply will be so limited that very little can be accomplished. If it were in ocean-falls; instead of in ounces, the case might be different.

Philosophy Well Defined.

Philosophy is but common sense by a more circuitous route.—Zanwell.

Origin of "Hustings"

Hustling was the name of an ancient court held in the city of London. In its present sense the word denotes the place where members of parliament were nominated before the balloting act of 1832 rejected the form of nominating openly. From this it has come to be applied to any electioneering platform.

YOUR BACK ACHE?

After Grip, "flu" or colds, the kidneys and bladder are often affected—called nephritis, or inflammation of kidneys. This is the red flag of danger—better be wise and check the further inroads of kidney disease by obtaining that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's known as Anuric (anti-uric-acid), because it expels the uric acid poison from the body and removes those pains, such as backache, rheumatism in muscles and joints.

Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists, or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

Send Dr. Pierce's Invaluable Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for trial package of Anuric, or ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache remedy).

Everywhere folks praise it.

Butler, Pa.—"I had the influenza and it left me with bad kidneys, they were inflamed and sore, congested and inactive and my back ached so badly that it seemed it would break in two. At times the pains would extend clear up to the back of my neck. I took medicine for my kidneys but nothing gave me any relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and after so completely relieved me of all my kidney trouble and put my kidneys in such perfect working order that they have never given me any more trouble. I have never taken medicine that can compare with Dr. Pierce's Anuric."—W. J. Love, 818 Jefferson Street.

Some Ancient Dyes
The process of mordanting—fixing dyes in textiles by metallic salts—was discovered 2,500 years ago. One of the earliest known mordants, a scarlet worm, known later as vermillion, which name survives in vermilion.

Too Much of a Good Thing

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried May's Wonderful Remedy, and am now entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

Leopold and Loeb Pleading Guilty

Here are Nathan F. Leopold Jr. (left) and Richard Loeb, 19-year-old sons of millionaires, at the bar in Chief Justice John R. Cawley's court, pleading guilty to the kidnapping and murder of 14-year-old Robert Frank. Both of the youthful "intellectuals" were dressed fashionably as they came into court. And both outwardly were calm as they walked to the bench. Leopold, however, is gazing downward, but Loeb is looking straight at the judge. The strain, though, is noticeable in the faces of both.

Curwensville's Own Column

Rev. Shaulis will administer the sacrament of Holy Communion at Grace Lutheran church on Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Zinn and family and Mrs. Harry Pugh, all of Morgantown, W. Va., visited at their cousin's Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baer, South Side, James Goss, an uncle, of Philipsburg, also was a visitor at the Baer home.

We are requested to announce in care some people misinterpret the bible convention at the Park, that it is not strictly a Baptist affair but an inter-denominational meeting and that members of all churches are cordially invited and will be made welcome.

The florists association held a picnic at the Park. Representatives from every section of this and adjoining counties were present and enjoyed the day's outing. There were more people on grounds yesterday than for any single day during the week day season, and they were not all florists either, by a long shot.

Two young men of the South side were before Squire Dale yesterday on a charge of stealing money from the clothes of persons who were in bathing. They admitted the charge and each was bound over under a $500 bail bond to appear at next term of court.

Arrests were made before Squire Dale yesterday forenoon under the charge of selling cigarettes to boys under age. He conducted a store on south Pine street. He denied any knowledge of the offense alleging that his wife was the guilty party. Proceedings will be entered against her, provided the matter is not settled outside the pale of the law's regular course.

"Buckie" Baer's Arabs crossed bats with the Readville club Wednesday afternoon and came out of the fray, losing the game by score of 8-4. "Buckie" has not been very successful thus far in the season with a winning aggregation, they having suffered defeat in every game played.

Mrs. Foster, of Pittsburgh, was a guest of Mrs. C. E. Doverspike Wednesday and a part of Thursday.

Reuben Pentz, of Indiana, Pa., and Mrs. Elan Ireland of Goshen, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Post, McLaughlin street, this week.

The body of Mrs. Arnold Bloom arrived in Curwensville yesterday afternoon and conveyed from the train to Oak Hill cemetery and after a short funeral service was laid to rest alongside that of her husband. The Adult ladies bible class of the M. E. church, attended services of their deceased sister in a body. Rev. Dr. J. V. Adams conducting the service.

George Kiville and Quito Vistella, two young boys were picked up yesterday forenoon by Probation officer and local officers, and taken before the Justice of the Peace on a charge of incorrigibility. George Kiville, having been at large since July 1st. Both were taken to Clearfield by the office.

John P. Welch died at his home on George street, yesterday morning at the hour of 8 o'clock, after a lengthy illness, catarrh of the throat and other complications. He was born July 3rd, 1857, and had been in the

MAINTAIN LEAD BY DEFEATING OSCEOLA BY A SCORE OF 9 TO 7

Manager Robinson took his ball team over to Osceola yesterday afternoon and, with "Dode" Wisor, on the mound succeeded in maintaining their hold on first place in the C. & C. League race by downing the mountain climbers by a 9 to 7 score.

The locals opened on the Osceola lads like a veritable whirlwind and chased five runs across before the third man was out in the very first round.

McCloskey opened hostilities by cracking out a single. Rowles dumped the ball in front of the plate and was thrown out at first, the sacrifice advancing McCloskey to second. Robinson managed to get to first on a fielder's choice, and promptly stole second.

McCloskey and Robbie both came in on W. Fauver's single. Shaulis hit to first and was out. Roseberry's tap was fumbled by Dugan and he made first base.

Peterson's double scored Roseberry and "Pete" counted when Lansberry poled out a double. "Joberry" was out at third on his try for three bases on the hit.

Singles by McCloskey and Robinson netted another run in the second inning, while a base on balls to McCloskey, Robinson's double, W. Fauver's triple and a single by Shaulis scored three more in the fourth.

Osceola got their first run off Wisor on a base on balls an error and Hen'sal's double in the fourth inning. A base on balls, an error and three singles netted them three more in the sixth. They got another in the seventh on Demonic's double and a single by Carey. Three singles and an error gave them their final two in the eighth.

employ of the Penna railroad company for a most forty years, but in 1922 was placed on the retired list.

In 1901 he was sent to Grampian where he remained about five years, and then came to Curwensville, where he has made his home since that time. His wife died some twenty odd years ago. He is survived by a son, Lester, and one daughter, Mrs. Maudie Torst of Mt. Union, one sister, Miss Annie Welsh, who kept house for him and two brothers, William of Sunbury and Robert of Vail, Blair county. He was an exemplary citizen, honest and courteous to all. He was a member of St. Timothy Catholic church, and the funeral services will be held on Saturday forenoon at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery at Clearfield.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also cures boils! S.S.S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaft, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it."

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Are using these rare powders By Edna Wallace Hopper

I did not intend to supply powders to women. My only idea was to furnish them my greatest beauty helps. But thousands of women have urged me, by letter and in person, to tell them the powders I use.

Like all my friends, on the stage and in the movies, I use very costly powders. I have them made to my order, and they cost me $5 per box. Our careers depend on our looks, and nothing is too costly.

But I have persuaded the makers to offer these powders at ordinary prices. I order them in quantities, under my name. I offer them at my expense to girls and women who desire the best.

Now all druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Powders. There are two kinds. For myself I prefer a clinging powder, a cold cream powder, based on my Youth Cream. It is enduring. That Youth Cream Powder costs $1. But many women prefer a light and fluffy powder. If you want that kind it costs but 50 cents. Both kinds come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

So far as I know, these powders are the finest in existence. You may be sure that if anyone produced a better powder I would get it quickly. Any one who uses common powder will gain a false conception of what powders should be.

ALLIED CONFEREES
ON THE DAWES PLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

London, July 24.—The allied conference on the Dawes plan is dangerously near a deadlock today and numerous conferences are under way in an effort to compromise differences between France and the group of bankers who propose to float the $200,000,000 loan to Germany.

This morning the bankers had not receded from their position that the reparations commission is not the proper body to trust with authority to declare defaults and exact sanctions from Germany—at least as now constituted.

French representatives would yield none of the prerogatives of the commission and charged the bankers with attempting to break down the treaty of Versailles, which set up the reparations commission.

One of the most important conferences today brought together representatives of the "big five"—England, the United States, France, Belgium, and Italy—in an effort to agree on further concessions to the bankers that would be acceptable to France.

Meantime various plans were being advanced from various sources in the hope of breaking the deadlock.

One, whose origin is not entirely clear, suggested that Henry Ford undertake the flotation of the German loan. It has been reported in London that the American automobile maker is accumulating huge cash reserves for which he has no immediate outlet.

Another that is receiving more serious consideration is the proposal to set aside all German maritime customs to secure the loan.

The bankers already have rejected a plan to have France agree to guarantee the loan in event she takes separate sanctions from Germany. The bankers said a nation taking such sanctions finds its currency depreciating and is not a good guarantor.

The hitch continues to center on the reparations commission. The bankers regard the body as not unresponsive to political influences. Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan representative, and Sir Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, are declared to be insistent on that point.

The French position that the reparations commission cannot surrender its powers has undergone no change so far as can be learned.

Files Suit To Recover
$1,000 Paid Woman Who
Of Harrisburg Murderer

Harrisburg, Pa., July 24 (INS).—A murder eight years ago is the cause of a suit brought by Mrs. A. Michael Fields, who says she is the widow of the murdered man, to collect $1,000 compensation from another woman who posed as the wife of the murder victim.

The victim, A. Michael Ury, was slain in 1916 by a negro who hit him with a shovel. The negro was later electrocuted.

Now Mrs. Fields says she has learned "Ury" was living under a fictitious name and was really her husband. The other woman is alleged to have collected the compensation by posing as the wife of "Ury." She is said to be living in the south.

SECOND WARD TO THE BAT

The Second Ward would like to inquire if A. B. Reed of the First Ward and Mrs. M. F. Graham of the Fourth Ward have each only one ripe tomato. Mrs. Lester Smeal of Linden street has had two ripe tomatoes from her garden.

MARRIED AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, July 24. (INS).—A marriage license was issued here to Cleaver Thompson of Pittsburgh and Grace Mackie, of Clearfield.

Mrs. Ida S. Townsend of Williamsport, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Sutton for the past week.

ONE CENT BROOMS AT NORRISTOWN
HOSPITAL FOR PHYSICAL REPAIRS

Norristown, Pa., July 24 (INS).—A bargain counter rush at a one-cent broom sale developed into a near riot here today, resulting in the injury of nearly a score of women, 12 of whom were taken to the hospital. The incident occurred when the crush became so great, the store window collapsed, showering glass over the prospective purchasers.

SHENANDOAH ON
TWO-DAY CRUISE

Lakehurst, N. J., July 24. (INS).—The navy dirigible Shenandoah left its hangar here today for a flight to Scranton, Pa., Binghamton, N. Y., and an all-night cruise, planning a return early tomorrow morning.

PENNSY-GRAMS

Pittsburgh.—Two policemen, Harry Kurner and Edward Casto, are off duty today, nursing severe cuts received when they subdued an alleged lunatic, Richard Adanson, 46. Adanson refused to vacate a house here when ordered and police were informed of the fact yesterday. The two officers broke down the door and Adanson attacked them with an ax. They received several bruises and cuts before they could overpower the man.

Pittsburgh.—A barnyard sheik in Oakland will not crow today, for according to Police Sergeant John Giles he will be muzzled. Mrs. W. M. Angles could not sleep because the rooster crowed at dawn, she complained to the police, and even said she would buy the rooster if the owner promised not to get another. Giles said he would see that the crowing would be stopped.

Erie.—In an effort, it is said, to check alleged liquor transportation from New York to Ohio, about a dozen state police guarded highways leading into Erie and searched several automobiles, yesterday.

Butler.—C. E. Shirk, five years general secretary of the Butler Y. M. C. A., has resigned according to announcement made here. Shirk will become general secretary of the Central Y. M. C. A. of Harrisburg and take up his new duties September 1.

Philadelphia, July 24.—Mrs. Mary Jones of this city today left for Providence, R. I., where her 24-year-old daughter Irene is being held as a "bobbed-haired bandit" in connection with the robbery of a garage at Cumminsville, Vermont.

Philadelphia.—Detectives today were working on the case of William D. Rogers, real estate broker, who is said to have received a postcard and a letter signed "K. K. K." and threatening him with drowning unless he leaves the city.

Philadelphia.—Elizabeth Sorber, 20-year-old nurse, who confessed to police here that she smothered her baby one hour after birth and then checked the body in a suit case at the Camden, N. J., ferry station, was ordered held without bail for a further hearing next week by Magistrate Pennock here today. The woman was arraigned on a charge of murder.

Philadelphia.—Seventeen cases were disposed of by Judge MacNeille here last night in the first session of the "poor man's court," which operates without lawyers and with no cost to the contestants. Both parties are obliged to sign an agreement to abide by the judge's decision before a case is heard.

Philadelphia.—Leslie J. Burton, 13, was instantly killed here when a steel surveying tape, with which he was helping his father measure some property, came in contact with a high tension wire.

Philadelphia.—A padlock injunction for one year was issued by Judge Dickinson here yesterday against the Feldman saloon on Sansom street.

DR. LEIPOLD'S MOTHER IS DEAD

Mrs. George Leipold, mother of Dr. F. D. Leipold, died at the home of her son on West Front street about 7 o'clock this morning, after an illness of about four weeks.

Proper obituary and funeral notice will appear later.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Bowman and children of Williamsport, motor here today to spend the week end with the latter's grandmother, Mrs. James Sutton. Mr. Bowman is actively interested in the American Legion, being vice commander of Post No. 1 of Penna. and a delegate to the State Convention.

LEOPOLD-LOEB CASE
DRAGS ON WITH BIG
ARRAY OF WITNESSES

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Criminal Court, Chicago, July 24

Bit by bit and fact by fact the prosecution of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and ers and slayers of Young Babby Richard A. Loeb, confessed kidnaper, added today to the "mountain of evidence" on which state's Attorney Crowe has repeatedly vowed he will send them to the gallows.

A steady stream of witnesses flowed through the high chair by the Judge's box today and added their contributions to the damning net of evidence that the state is throwing about the pair of young college students.

Hotel Clerks, railroad employees, physicians, fellow students and servants in the wealthy home of young Leopold passed in and out of the witness chair during the morning session of the famous trial. All of them had some knowledge of the facts and circumstances leading up to the crime, some contribution to make to the state's case.

The boys, smiling, unperturbed and apparently as interested as they would be in watching a theatrical performance, observed the numerous witnesses with unemotional faces. Many times they grinned at those whose words were bringing the hangman's noose closer and closer to their necks.

Seldom did the attorneys for the boys make any objection or even question witnesses the state produced in such abundance. They have already staked their case on pleading guilty to the crime and hoping for a life sentence for the pair instead of the gallows.

Chicago, July 24. (INS).—The state's case against Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb will be completed by Saturday, State's Attorney Crowe announced just before court opened today. The hearing will be completed nearly next week, he believes.

Court was late in getting underway this morning. Both dapper young defendants smiled and nodded to friends and acquaintances as they came in at 10:15. They were dressed as meticulous as usual and grinned and conversed in low whispers as the first witness took the stand. He was Andy Russo, of New York, an electrician employed by the Pullman Company.

It was Russo who discovered one of the letters written by the defendants to Jacob Franks, the father of their victim.

A LUCKY OIL WELL
SHOOTER IS THIS
BRADFORD MAN

Bradford, Pa., July 24 (INS).—Burr Hoobert, oil well shooter for the Pringle Power Company of Bradford, is lucky he is alive today after the experience he had yesterday. He was taking 80 quarts of nitroglycerine in a wagon to Garlock Hollow, near here to shoot a well, when the wagon overturned pinning Hoobert under it. He suffered only minor injuries. Nitroglycerine explodes at the least provocation but the explosive remained intact this time.

PICNIC TRUCK IS
TEN ARE KILLED

Annual Outing of Ohio
Rural High School Has Terrible Ending; Four
More May Not Survive.

FOUR ADULTS DIE

Oak Harbor, O., July 24 (INS).—As the result of a fast New York Central flyer striking a picnic truck at a grade crossing here, 10 persons, seven of whom were high school students, are dead, four others are seriously injured that it is thought they will die, and 12 others less seriously injured last evening.

All but four of the dead or injured are under 18 years of age. The picnic was the annual outing of the Attica High School and was returning from a picnic grounds near this city. Henry Spangler, the driver of the bus which contained 27 persons, failed to heed warning signals and drove directly into the path of the approaching Chicago-Cleveland train according to witnesses.

Train passengers said the engineer had whistled several times for the crossing and, as the bus came into view slapped the brakes on, which failed to slacken the sixty mile an hour pace, in such a short distance.

The bus was rolled over several times and was dragged more than 300 feet. The victims were strewn along both sides of the track, many of them horribly mangled.

The dead:
Henry Spangler, 34, driver of the bus, Willard, Ohio.

Mrs. Mabel Wolfe, 25.
Mrs. Vernon L. Cooke, 45.
Ella Olds, 16.
Geraldine Shemf, 13.
Olga Pratt, 15.
Holden Ossman, 14.
Milan Schaan, 16.
Forest Crompting, 17.
Viola Crompting, 15, all of Attica, Ohio.

The injured:
Dalton Reichard, 16; John Bounner, 12; Mary O. Lepard, 14; Russell Wolfe, 28; Russell Reichert, 16; Marian Schmeltz, 16; Helen Hoffman, 14; I. mis, Slagel 16; Vernita Lepard, 17; Neal Hoffman, 13; Margaret Bernard, 16; Eva F. F. 15; Vera Hoffman, 15, all of Attica, Ohio.

Youthful Honeymooners
Take In Atlantic City
On $1.40—For Awhile

Atlantic City, N. J., July 24 (INS).—The honeymoon of Robert Roahn and his wife Margaret, each 17 years old, of Lancaster, Pa., was abruptly terminated here today by police. The couple "hitch-hiked" from Lancaster, where they were married on Sunday, arriving here with a total capital of $1.40. Using $1.25 of this amount to rent a room for his wife, Roahn walked the streets all night. His pacing attracted attention of a policeman, who after hearing the young bridegroom's story, communicated with Lancaster. Money was forwarded for the couple's return, and added information was that their parents promised a blessing on the union.

LOCAL HAYMAKER HONORED

Past Chief Haymaker W. H. Sutton has returned home from Reading where he presided over the 31st annual convention of the State Association of Haymakers, a side degree of the Independent Order of Red Men. The next convention goes to Lebanon.

Retiring Chief Sutton was presented with a very handsome Past Chief Haymaker's emblem or jewel and was further honored by being chosen a delegate from Pennsylvania to the national convention, which meets in Detroit, Mich. next month.

Mr. Sutton has been very active in Red Manhood and has kept Clearfield on the map at both Red Men and Haymaker conventions for the past 20 years and has been a zealous worker in the local tribe all of that time.

When asked at Reading if he was 100 per cent American, Bill replied that about 99 per cent was as near perfect as he thought he could get.

MOTHER OF SLAIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Criminal Court Room, Chicago, July 24.—A somberly garbed woman, whose face showed the traces of recent tears, took the witness stand in criminal court here yesterday to tell of her knowledge of the killing of her boy.

She was Mrs. Jacob Franks, mother of the boy for whose slaying Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, today are on trial for their lives.

She looked at her questioners dully as she sat straight up in the witness chair, her gloved hands playing nervously with the folds of her dress.

Her responses were made in a low tone of voice which barely carried to the jury box.

And as the questions bore on her boy leaving home alive and of the subsequent finding of the body, her voice wavered, tears welled into her eyes and nearly overflowed down the face lined with grief.

She trembled as the state's attorney asked her to recount her last conversation with her boy, slumped slightly in her chair and appeared on the verge of collapse.

Then exhibits were offered Mrs. Franks one by one and each she identified after holding it a moment in her hands as if there somehow were a real part of the boy whom she would never fold in her arms again.

spreading were contained in another report that the governor and hundreds of army officers and civilian officials had been arrested in the state of Rio Grande de Sul, and a military dictatorship set up.

Many of the largest and handsomest buildings in Sao Paulo have been destroyed by the federal artillery fire, including the palatial home of the governor of the state who is now a fugitive, the dispatches said.

the trouble started in the dining hall when two girls staged a hair pulling match. Hauled out of the room by attendants, fifty other girls began a free for all fight, throwing dishes and furniture. In the fighting, which followed, the two girls who started the trouble were released by their fellow prisoners.

Knives were wielded and attendants driven out of the building. In the fighting, policeman William Sager 30, was severely bitten by Phyllis May, an 18-year old inmate, and police Sergeant F. J. Marks was severely injured when hit on the back by another girl, armed with an iron bar.

CHICAGO DISTRICT
STEEL MEN EXPECT
BIG THINGS FROM
F. T. C. DECISION

Chicago, July 24 (INS).—Centering of the steel manufacturing and fabrication industries in the Chicago district instead of in Pittsburgh and immediate expenditure in this district of more than $200,000,000 for extension of present plants and construction of additional ones was forecast by leading steel and iron men here today as a result of the Federal Trade Commission ruling abolishing the "Pittsburgh plus" system of steel price fixing.

South Chicago, Hammond, Ind., Gary, Ind., Indiana Harbor and scores of smaller cities and towns in the Calumet district today were quickening to the thrill of impending rapid development.

It was reported that the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, largest independent steel manufacturing concern in the world, was making ready to erect a $50,000,000 plant on a 1,200 acre site purchased at Hammond several years ago. This plant alone, it was said, will employ 12,000 men. Only the possibility that there may be an appeal from the Trade Commission's ruling, reports in steel circles had it, now stands in the way of start of construction.

Local officials of other steel companies admitted that construction then threatened him back between the rails and the contest continued.

"Pete" and the fireman became intensely interested in the race, the fireman allowing his sympathies to go out to the "tracer" to such an extent that he offered to wager a poke of scrap that the snake would win.

WRIGHT'S DAUGHTER TO
GET MILLIONTH TAG

Harrisburg, July 25. (INS).—Secretary of Highways Paul D. Wright has been given his orders on Pennsylvania motor vehicle license tag No. 1,000,000. His daughter has given the order.

A number of persons had been seeking this unusual tag, but a day or so ago Mr. Wright was informed that the tag was already reserved by his daughter.

Youthful Sweethearts
Locked In Each Other's
Arms, Drown In River

New York, July 25. (INS).—The Hudson River, off Stony Point, N. Y., was being dragged today for the bodies of Eleanor Griffiths, 14, and Stanley De Anoy, 15, youthful sweethearts who went down—locked in each other's arms.

The sweethearts went for an outing at Stony Point. They played on the beach.

Stanley suddenly heard Eleanor scream. The tide had pulled her to midstream. He swam to her frantically. He struggled to bring her ashore but his strength gave out, and they both sank.

Matinous Girls At Capital
Building And Injure Two

Washington, July 24 (INS).—After a hectic night of rioting in which fifty matinous inmates nearly wrecked the National training school for girls, order was restored early today. Five persons were injured and the interior of the building is virtually demolished.

A score of policemen, responding to a riot call, put down the rebellion after it waged two hours out of control. Ring leaders were finally placed in solitary confinement and extra guards remained on duty to prevent a further outbreak.

The trouble started in the dining hall when two girls staged a hair pulling match. Hauled out of the room by attendants, fifty other girls began a free for all fight, throwing dishes and furniture. In the fighting, which followed, the two girls who started the trouble were released by their fellow prisoners.

Tells Story Of Thrilling
Race Between Blue Racer
And Black Horse of Steel

Theodore Peterson, an engineer on the River Line off the N. Y. C., says a blacksnake more than six feet long ran ahead of his engine for more than two miles, down near Keating yesterday.

"Pete" says the snake, which he thinks may have been a blue racer, because it hustled over the road like blue blazes, was sunning itself on the cinders between the rails at the "ash pan dump" two miles above Keating and when startled out of its snooze darted down the track ahead of the engine. He "threw 'er over" but the increased speed of the big machine only served to make the snake hump his back that much faster as the race down the river began.

The snake kept about twenty yards ahead of the engine, which was doing thirty miles an hour. His snakeship attempted to drop out of the race several times but as he raised his head to clear the track the singing of the rails as the weight of the on-rushing locomotive caused them to vibrate as it struck them frightened him back between the rails and the contest continued.

"Pete" and the fireman became intensely interested in the race, the fireman allowing his sympathies to go out to the "tracer" to such an extent that he offered to wager a poke of scrap that the snake would win.

"Pete's" loyalty to his "snake wagon" got the better of his conscience.

Methodists To Meet At
For Annual Big Picnic

Methodist Day at Lakemont Park is July 31, and a big day it promises to be for those who attend. The morning preacher is that peerless gentleman from Elm Park Methodist church, Scranton, Pa. He will speak at the 10 o'clock service.

In the afternoon, Rev. Doctors Pyles and Fausch, than whom there are no severer exponents of Biblical evangelism, and Rev. Dr. O. B. Poulson, preacher and director will deal in heavenly trade winds. It will be a rare opportunity to hear fine expression from men who were eloquent.

In the evening will be "The Pageant of Methodism," directed by Mrs. Montgomery of well known histrionic ability, in which the church of Altoona and vicinity put on an episode or scene in episode covering an important period of Methodism's thrilling history of nearly 200 years. The pageant will be costumed and delightfully realistic. The people will want to see it.

Meals will be served at reasonable rates and lunches provided by deserving church workers of the vicinity. Amusements of legitimate type are for all.

QU'DRUPLE WEDDING
IS PRETTY EVENT
IN RURAL HOME

The most remarkable celebration or series of celebrations to occur in this region within the mind of the present generation took place yesterday at the hospitable farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Butler I. Mead, situated in Lawrence township on the plateau overlooking the Susquehanna river, at the top of Lick Run hill.

The occasion proper was the celebration of the 50th or golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, respected residents of this region all their long lives and who have resided on Mt. Joy road, at the edge of Clearfield, for the past 26 years.

On July 23d, 1874, Harvey Wilson and Sophia Powell, members of two of Bradford township's pioneer and best known families, journeyed over to Tyrona and had Rev. Miller perform the ceremony which united them as man and wife. The young couple returned to Bigler, where they began house-keeping and have since resided in this section of Clearfield county. They have lived quiet, consistent, christian lives and enjoy the unbounded respect and esteem of all with the privilege of their acquaintance. They have five children, three sons and two daughters, to comfort them in their declining years, and of these, together with a score or more of grandchildren, all but one were present at the golden wedding.

To add to the joyousness of the occasion, the two daughters, Viola, wife of Butler I. Mead and Stella, wife of A. B. Wallace, of McBride street, celebrated their 25th or silver wedding anniversary yesterday, which made the affair in a remarkable and to add even further pleasure to the joyous and auspiciousness of the occasion, Dorsey Wilson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, took advantage of the opportunity to take unto himself a wife. Accordingly Dorsey Wilson, of DuBois, and Miss Sara L. Hartzfeld, of Luthersburg, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Dr. A. Platt, of DuBois.

About one hundred friends of the participants in this remarkable quadruple celebration were present and enjoyed one of the finest dinners it was possible for excellent cooks to provide and the snappily pretty girls, among the granddaughters, to most excellently serve.

Rev. W. L. Armstrong of the West Side Methodist Church, asked the

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

The American Legion Band will give another of their popular concerts at the Park tonight under the direction of Harry P. Bridge.

Music of a wide range has been selected for the concert and it will be a delightfully cool place to spend the evening. Concert starts at 7:30 and continues for one hour.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

In a bulletin just issued by the State Highway Department, entitled, "Facts Motorists Should Know," attention is directed to those parts of Pennsylvania which have the highest mountains. Somerset county leads with the loftiest summits, some of its most notable mountains being Negro mountain, 3,220 feet high; Big Spring Summit, 3,135 feet; Peck's Peak, 3,120 feet and Old Fort Hill Summit and Mount View School Knob, each 3,100 feet. Luzerne county, Westmorland county and Pike county have mountains 3,000 feet high, and Potter, Clinton, Susquehanna, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Wyoming, Franklin, Clearfield, Center and Fulton counties have elevations of more than 2,000 feet.

Some birds live to a great age. The age of 90 is known to have been reached by a gray parrot, and there are many statements of birds of the parrot family having lived for over a century. The raven also is credited with having reached 100 years. A recent investigation into the subject of the longevity of birds shows that with one exception the carrion, or meat-eating birds, are the longest lived. The exception is the swan. The average ages for some of the best known birds are given in the following list: Black bird lives 12 years; canary 24; crow, 100; eagle, 100; fowl (common) 10; goldfinch, 15; goose, 50; heron, 52; lark, 13; linnet, 23; nightingale, 18; partridge, 15; peacock, 24; pelican, 50; pheasant, 15; pigeon, 20; raven, 100; robin, 12; skylark, 30; sparrowhawk, 40; swan, 100; thrush, 10, and wren, 3 years.

Revocation of licenses of eighty hunters for various serious infractions of the game law was announced by the Board of Game Commissioners at their April meeting, and fifteen additional licenses for one and two year periods have just been made. To date the Board has revoked licenses of 285 hunters in Pennsylvania since the Act of 1921 was passed authorizing such revocations. All of these hunters have been denied the right to hunt or to secure a license for periods of one or two years and they cannot legally hunt for birds or animals of any kind until the expiration of the time for which their licenses have been revoked. A complete list giving the names of persons whose licenses have been revoked for this year will be announced later.

This year will be memorable in history as the year that witnessed the final preliminary steps in the long campaign waged by medical science against the last of the outstanding contagious maladies of childhood that hitherto had proved intractable. The malady is scarlet fever. The conquest of that malady seems to be clearly forecast in discoveries and demonstrations made in recent months by workers in the field of pathology and experimental therapeutics.

Laboratory work has demonstrated that a particular type of bacterium known as the streptococcus, is the offending organism responsible for the malady which, since diphtheria came under the control of antitoxin, has been the most feared scourge of childhood.

It has long been known that streptococci are always present in the throats of scarlet fever patients. It was necessary to isolate a specific type of streptococcus and to prove that this organism, cultivated in an artificial medium, gave out toxins that could transmit scarlet fever. This demonstration has recently been made by Drs. George F. Dick and Gladys Henry Dick, husband and wife, after long and patient investigation.

These investigations have shown that by inoculating a horse with doses of the toxin the system of the horse will develop an antitoxin which will neutralize the poisonous quality of the toxin. It is reasonable to hope that this antitoxin will prove a curative agency in the treatment of scarlet fever.

Extensive and seemingly conclusive tests have been made of the power of the artificially developed streptococcal toxin to reveal susceptibility to scarlet fever in any child by an inoculation method. It has been found that further inoculations of a susceptible child with stronger doses of the toxin remove susceptibility or give immunity. There is reason to believe that a child thus immunized would pass through a scarlet fever epidemic unscathed.

Dr. Abraham Zingher, of the Research Laboratory of the New York Department of Health, first inoculated his own children, then inaugurated a series of tests with children of the public school, and very recently he inoculated a group of susceptibles among the orphans in local asylums. The new method gives augury of the ultimate control, or even banishment, of scarlet fever.

Opportunity for Every Boy

It was a wise dispensation of Providence to have provided so many games for boys that every boy can pick out at least one in which he can excel all rivals, and have the memory of his prowess to support him when he has grown old.

With consummate cunning, they had plotted to look for each other on a train leaving Chicago. It gave him directions as to how to proceed to ransom his son who was then dead.

There was no cross examination. Defense attorneys have admitted everything.

David Barish, proprietor of the store from which Leopold and Loeb did some telephoning in their working out of the plot, was recalled and completed technical details of his testimony yesterday.

Frank B. Tully, clerk of the Hotel Lenox, showed a yellow envelope containing "credentials" made out to "Morton D. Ballard," one of Leopold's aliases, by which he was enabled to rent the murder car.

Dr. Emil Deutsch, oculist, who prescribed glasses for Leopold, next took the stand. It was the accidental dropping of a pair of glasses near the curvet where the body of Bobby Franks was hidden that first directed suspicion to young Leopold.

When the glasses were found they were discovered to be an unique make, handled only by one Chicago firm. The firm's records disclosed that three people in all Chicago who had precisely these glasses—a lady, a professional man and young Leopold. The first two were readily absolved, and the chase ended with Leopold.

Dr. Deutsch simply identified the glasses. Thomas McWilliams, manager of the Morrison hotel, where Leopold also had rented a room under the name of "Morton D. Ballard," further completed the identification.

The maid testified that there had been a portable Underwood typewriter in the Leopold home for several months prior to the Franks murder. It was on this machine that the ransom letter was written to the elder Franks.

Is this machine similar to the one in Nathan's room? asked Crowe, holding aloft the battered machine that was taken out of the Jackson park lagoon. It had been thrown there by young Leopold after the murder.

"Yes," she said. Crowe next dragged out the charred and bloody automobile robe, in which Leopold and Loeb confessed, they wrapped the body of young Franks after he had been knifed on the head with the chisel in the car. She then identified the robe as one similar to that used in the Leopold case. Arnold Marenson, a student at the University of Chicago, now law school mate of Leopold, was next called. He testified he had known Leopold for several years, and had frequently gone to the Leopold home to study with the young son of the house. His testimony was merely contributory to that of the maid concerning the typewriter. Other fellow students gave similar corroborative testimony concerning the typewriter.

Mrs. Lucille Smith and her daughter, Jeanette, testified they had seen the "murder car" near the curvet on the night that Loeb and Leopold disposed of the body.

YOU want gasoline that is volatile—easy vaporizing, quick igniting. Atlantic gives you that. And more! It has the stamina which means MAXIMUM MILEAGE.

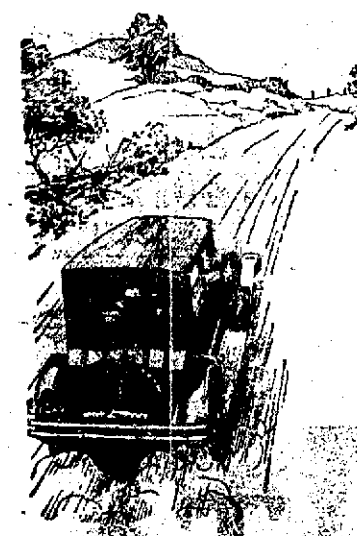

The Atlantic you buy to-day is a scientifically balanced gasoline—formulated to fit not simply one, but all of the widely varying conditions under which the modern automobile motor must operate.

Atlantic isn't simply a fair-weather gasoline. Its uniform chain of "boiling points" gives it all the elements for action and all the elements for power required for every speed, load and temperature.

You need no scientific analysis to discover Atlantic's day-in-and-day-out superiority. Performance tells the story!

MILITARY POLICING

It seems that General Butler, who has been policing Philadelphia, has to go. He is generally credited with having done a good job. The trouble is, it has been too good a job to please the politicians—and there are politicians in Philadelphia. They have been after the general's scalp ever since he was borrowed from Uncle Sam by Mayor Kendrick, several months ago, to clean up the city.

Politics is the bane of the police force in nearly every big city, and in some little ones. The Philadelphia mayor felt that the only way to get rid of longstanding evils in the organization and spirit of the force and the regulation of vice and crime was to bring in an outsider who would tackle the problem impartially and ruthlessly. General Butler has done that. He shook up the police force and continued shaking it up. He made himself a terror to local wrong-doers. He swept the city fairly clean of flagrant iniquity. He knew no favorites. In a word, he applied military methods to local policing.

But there is probably something to be said on the other side. The meddling politicians may not be altogether wrong-headed or vicious. Political and military methods seldom harmonize. Yet a city is necessarily run by politics, of some brand or other; and politics, whether good or bad, is usually very human.

A police chief or director cannot get along forever without political support. The hard, unyielding discipline of the army or navy or marine corps has to meet the human, political factor somewhere, and establish a working understanding. The righteousness and efficiency may be all on General Butler's side, but that was not enough. The ideal police chief is both soldier and politician—soldier to do the work and politician to win the necessary support.

THE PERFECT POSTMASTER

A postmaster who advertises for more business is almost unique in the annals of American history. Nashville, Tenn., has such an official. He wants more and more mail sent through his post-office, and in order to encourage citizens to gratify his desire for work he bombards his fellow-townsmen with mimeographed letters advising them to correspond, to advertise by mail, and even dares them to try to swamp him and his postal force.

And then, having aroused citizens' interest, he proceeds to hawl them out thoroughly, but merrily, for their shortcomings. Legible writing, correct addresses, properly stamped packages and similar things, he pleads for with wit and sarcasm that surely must take effect.

He lists the things that women frequently do wrong—such as writing notes on the pages of magazines or papers they are mailing, affixing a one-cent stamp on all packages of papers, no matter what they weigh and not leaving enough room for the address on envelopes. Then he adds:

"The splendid improvement in the Nashville mail service, which made it famous from Ellis Island to the Golden Gate, was made possible by the best set of women on earth—the young business women in the many offices of Nashville.

"What's become of the old-fashioned typist who kept both feet on the floor and wrote 'M'd. like 'Mo.'?"

Certainly a town with a postmaster like that ought to take an interest in its mail service and should be alert to obey all the instructions the postal authorities make for efficiency's sake. And what a boon his anecdotes and bright sayings must be in an otherwise monotonous routine!

A WILL DETERMINES

THE WAY

The way of a modern Executor and Trustee is not an easy one. It is fraught with all sorts of obstacles—legal restrictions, tax complications, investment problems, claims against the estate, inventories, the payment of bequests, the sale or management of property and innumerable details and difficulties.

Inexperience may blindfold individuals in the administration of estates. Personal affairs may curtail their activities. Death may destroy their usefulness. But this institution has none of these drawbacks. It is experienced in estate procedure, specializing in the fulfillment of Wills. Its time is entirely devoted to the affairs of its clients. Its existence is continuous. Our booklet, "The Descent of Property in Pennsylvania," may interest you; or perhaps you wish to discuss your estate problems with one of our Trust Officers. You are always welcome.

A church member doesn't often bet, but when he does, even he wants to win. So "Pete" hooked the lever over another notch, but the snake also had a little up his sleeve and with a few extra humps glided by the station at Keating like the "blue streak" he was, and as the iron horse glowed down for the station the reptile gained another rail length, glided over the shiny rail, and disappeared in the brush at the river's edge.

When he paid the bet he lost "Pete" said, "Well, even if he did beat us in a two-mile straight away, that snake had to go some; and while a snake is said to be cold-blooded, that black snake was so hot when the race ended his back was a layer of foam for the entire extent of his 60 inches." He still says the engine would have won had the fireman stayed at his post and kept 'er hot, instead of crowding into the window to cheer his champion on to victory in his mad race. He also wants to bet that snake can't be coaxed to come within one hundred yards of the railroad tracks again. So you see what a man comes to when he once starts betting.

Progress Editorials for Women

THE FATAL NORD

By FLORENCE DAVIES

A famous sport writer headlines a little paragraph, "Tender Talk and Lost."

Unless you happen to be a devotee of the sport page, you may not know that Low Tender is a fighting person, who set about it some time ago, to get the better of Benny Leonard, another fighting person, in a battle of lists.

But Tender lost. It seems that he talked. He was doing very well, so the sport writer assures us, and dauntless Leonard was perilously close to the border line of defeat. Then Leonard, his strength waning, resorted to his wits and jeered at his opponent, just to get him to jeer back. For he knew full well that once he got his enemy to talking, he would succeed in scattering his concentration and the day would be saved.

The ruse worked. The fighter partly stopped fighting and went to talking. If he had talked less he could have hit harder.

Even non-pugilistically inclined people ought to read the sport page once in a while. Life is just another kind of game and the rules that work for one game are very apt to work for another.

A good many of us talk too much.

MARINO—BARONE

Mr. Rosario Marino and Miss Carrie Barone, popular Clearfield young people, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at a nuptial mass in St. Francis Church at 8 o'clock this morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father M. A. Ryan in the presence of a large number of the friends of the happy couple.

Following the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the Daisy street home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barone, parents of the bride, where a most sumptuous wedding breakfast was served and where the day was spent in feasting and merriment.

The young couple start out in life with bright prospect, followed by the best wishes for health, wealth and happiness of a large circle of friends.

As we have been unable to see all our friends, we take this means of inviting them to the reception this evening being given our daughter, Carrie Barone Marino, whose marriage to Reese Marino was celebrated this evening.

THIS PRETTY GIRL DEFIES AGE BY USING ORDINARY BUTTERMILK TO BEAUTIFY HER COMPLEXION

Tells Druggists Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Quickly Shows a Decided Improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates a beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today of your favorite brand of goods counter with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money should you be dissatisfied.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short massage with Howard's Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary."

Leopold-Loeb Case

said he was standing on the corner of 49th street and Greenwood avenue on the night of May 22, and a maroon car (Leopold's car) came by and he saw something whizz out from it.

This, Crowe developed, was the cold chisel, wrapped in adhesive tape, that dashed young Franks' head in.

"There was fresh blood on the chisel when I picked it up," testified Hunt.

"I turned it over to the authorities," Hunt, a rich Irish attorney, rose in his seat and demonstrated how the person in the back of the car had thrown out the chisel. His antics caused both boys to smile and whisper between themselves.

Morgan A. Collins, chief of police, gave his testimony which was technical and perfunctory.

Leon Mandel II., another fellow student of Leopold's, to whom Leopold had attributed ownership of the typewriter, when he was next questioned, admitted he was "gambling with Leopold and Loeb five or six times at bridge."

"What stakes did they play for?" asked Crowe.

"Varying stakes. Five and ten cents a point," he replied.

"What limit is that equivalent to in poker?" asked Crowe.

"I don't know," said the witness, and the first real laugh of the trial broke over the court room.

Mandell said Leopold and Loeb always played against each other. He thought the most money that ever changed hands was "around three or four hundred dollars."

Crowe was persistent in quizzing the witness hard about the gambling, for it is his contention that one of the chief motives "was desire to obtain $10,000 ransom money in order to pay gambling losses and continue to gamble."

Crowe also endeavored to bring out whether Mandell had lost much money, but defense attorneys objected, and the court upheld them.

Charles Stranberg, a small shop keeper near Leopold's home, testified he had known the boy for 10 years. He identified the paper on which the ransom letters were written as from his shop.

Then followed in quick succession, the shop keepers who sold the typewriter with which young Franks was armed, the chisel which beat his head in, and the hydrochloric acid with which Leopold and Loeb sought to destroy the features of their young victim.

Leon England, Leopold's family chauffeur, then took the stand. It was England who shattered the carefully prepared alibi of the son of the house by telling the police that Nathan's car had been in the garage on the night he claimed he had been out riding in it.

CARPENTIER MUST WHIP TUNNEY OR HE IS DONE IN U. S. A.

New York, July 24. (INS.)—George Carpentier, French boxing idol, will have his opportunity tonight to prove that he should not be relegated to the pugilistic scrap heap.

And in staging his "comeback" Carpentier will meet Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Carpentier will have to be at his very best form to win from the pride of Greenwich Village.

Carpentier lost some caste with American fandom following his ten-round bout with Tom Gibbons when he was decisively beaten by the St. Paul fighter. Carpentier blamed a bum ankle for his poor showing in that bout. Tonight he will have no alibi. He is in the pink of condition. He has trained hard and faithfully for the Tunney fight. It will be his one opportunity to again mount the pugilistic ladder and hold the position in boxing circles that he did before Jack Dempsey knocked him out in Jersey City some years ago.

Carpentier is heavier than he was the last time he fought. His added weight may stand him in good stead. Carpentier also has done much of his training in New York, figuring this would be a big draw for him in tonight's affair. He has been in New York for weeks at Great Neck.

Tunney is in and ready for the best battle of his career. He is going to win and win quickly, believing that in stopping the Frenchman he will fit himself in line for his one ambition—to meet Jack Dempsey for the world's title. Tunney has trained at Red Bank.

The weather today was hot, with nary a cloud in the sky. A capacity crowd is expected to be on hand when the fighters enter the ring at 10 o'clock daylight time. The promoters say that 55,000 will witness the battle and that the gate will exceed $250,000.

Why It Will Pay You To Trade In Clearfield

The Truck Repair Shop

Starting this business, the only one of its kind in this entire section, in a small barn in the alley at rear of 217 Cherry Street, a few years ago, Frank P. Shaw has catered to the repairing of trucks only to such an extent that new and larger quarters were needed within a short time.

At the present time, the business occupies the entire first floor of the large Holmes Storge plant at the corner of William and Merrill streets. Giving the service to the truck owners of this entire section, with a new brake-lining service for all makes of cars and for general go-get-'em service, this shop is fast building for itself a reputation which is spreading far beyond the confines of this immediate section.

A Dream Awakened This Man

A certain New York man about town went to his club one evening in a bad frame of mind. Business was bad, stocks breaking wrong and the world seemed topsy-turvy with him. He found fault with his food, his favorite paper had been misplaced, his cigar tasted bad, as did the numerous potations he drank during the evening, and finally, on being "jollied" by a number of lively fellows, roundly cursed them and remarked: "To hell with everybody—I want to be entirely alone." Going into a less frequented part of the club he threw himself upon a divan and was soon asleep. And he dreamed! He was alone! The great city of New York was before him. Everything was quiet. He was absolutely alone. No one answered his bells for service. The taxis and cars were idle. The hotels and business places were deserted. He was the only soul in the great city of New York. The banks with their millions of gold were open to him. He sought food but there was none prepared and no one to cook any. Rusty tracks, sagging trolly and telephone wires, dark and dreary store fronts, idle busses and autos testified to former activities. Yet he had gained his wish—he was thoroughly alone. Not a human soul could he find. Only huge rats and dogs, made wild with hunger, were moving about. They were a constant menace to his well being. It was a continuous battle for supremacy, at the same time his hunger and rest were to be considered. Thrown constantly on the alert for self preservation, the fight for securing needed food and rest made him gaunt and his fast-growing indifference to personal care, arising from a positive demand for vigilance against hungry animal life, gave him an unkempt, slouchy appearance entirely at odds with his former well groomed self. Yes, he was alone! His wish had been gratified. What wouldn't he have given for a friend just then? Someone to talk to. Someone to fight the animals with. How small a soul he was. Alone. In a great city of splendid opportunities. But of what good, alone? He could get millions in gold, but had no one to spend it with.

Lots of public utilities but no one to run them? No lights, no pleasures. How sadly alone! He now must thoroughly realize the need of companionship. He realized for the first time in his life how utterly dependent he was upon his fellowman. He knew now that he was wrong and he only. It was the smallness of a mean man, the selfishness of an individual alone that divorced him from the pleasures of companionship. He was gnawing at the husks of discontent. He knew now the good fellowship which we extend one to another are the things which make life worth while. His soul craved the companionship of man. He was struggling in battle with the odds and ends of a morbid, selfish life. He was lonely and wanted fellowship. One cannot live alone! He awoke.

He went forth from his dream a better man. He had received the message, age old, "Love thy neighbor as thy self." He had learned, in truth, that each man is dependent upon his fellows; that it is only through co-operation and fellowship that the living of our lives worth while that homes, communities, cities and states are permanently built only upon the principles of each individual contributing his share of the joys and pleasures and assuming his share of the tears and sorrows of his fellowmen.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mender Brennetti, who holds a professorship in Princeton College, N. J., is home for his summer vacation.

Rev. H. B. Conley took a relapse Tuesday night and his case became so critical that he was taken to Clearfield hospital where Dr. Waterworth is giving expert surgical attention.

Abraham Shockey, who many Curwensville people yet remember, who migrated to Nebraska about 1880, was a town visitor a few days last week and this. He is now living with a daughter at New Kensington. He was a veteran of the civil war and is now past the eighty year mark.

Walter Thompson, eldest son of late F. I. Thompson, and his wife, came in from Massachusetts yesterday for a brief visit with kin folks. "Tucker" does not seem to have lost much weight among New Hampshire hills, and still ties the scales at old time fighting weight.

George R. Fleming has gone to Pittsburgh and will enter the West Penn hospital as a patient and undergo an operation for bladder trouble.

The Adams Express office has been trimmed up inside and made to look a little more business like. The Bell telephone exchange office has also received attention at the hands of the painters, which makes the room far more pleasant for the lady operators.

Harry Foust, living in one of the new tannery houses on South Filbert street, is the proud possessor of a new son, who entered his home on Sunday.

A barn out on the Marisky place owned by Burkett London, near the borough line, was burned to the ground at an early hour yesterday morning. The contents were also destroyed to the amount of some $500. The origin of the fire cannot be determined, as the building was in full blaze when discovered.

Word was received by relatives and friends in Curwensville yesterday of the death of Mrs. Margaret Bloom, widow of Arnold Bloom, which occurred at the soldier's widow home near Brownsville on Tuesday, aged about 78 years. Her maiden name was Lytle, a sister of John and James Lytle she being born and reared in Lawrence township. Her husband, Arnold Bloom, died on June 4, 1913. Her body arrived in Curwensville over the B. & P. at 2 o'clock this afternoon and was conveyed at once to Oak Hill cemetery and interred.

Miss Frances Schoor is home after closing a six week's term of summer school at Braddock, Pa. She has taught two successful winter terms of school in that city, and goes back for the third term.

Some twenty or more members of the Rescue Hose and Ladder company of this place went up to Gramplan last evening and were in attendance at the Firemen's Carnival being held in that village the balance of the week. Gramplan's little pump-parade paraded our streets yesterday afternoon and made a dandy showing.

Rolly Farwell, one of Gramplan's level headed farmers, was in town Tuesday evening attending a law suit at Squire Dale's as a spectator. Squire John Y. Rafferty, who is supposed to dispense law in all its eccentricities and forms, was also on hand and recorded the testimony, to be followed by him in any similar case which might be brought before him, all parties being agreeable.

Mrs. B. F. Mons and daughter Jane spent the week-end with friends in Lock Haven, Jersey Shore and Williamsport.

CURWENSVILLE MINISTER

Rev. B. H. Conley, of Curwensville, who was taken seriously ill following an address made at the Klan meeting at the Henry farm last Thursday, and who has been seriously ill since that time, was brought to the Clearfield hospital and underwent an operation at the hands of Dr. Waterworth yesterday. Rev. Conley is reported as getting along very satisfactorily today.

WOODLAND WOMAN HAD STROKE EARLY TODAY

Mrs. Scott Banger, a well known resident of Woodland, suffered a paralytic stroke at an early hour this morning. Her condition is said to be very serious.

Knitted Wool Outfit

Wedding Ring Worn on Thumb.
In the reign of George I of England fashion had something to do with the wedding ring. Large wedding rings being favored at that time, it was not unusual to see a woman wearing her wedding ring on her thumb, although it had been placed on the fourth finger during the ceremony. Wedding rings were also worn on the thumb in the middle of the seventeenth century.

Well to Forget Sorrows.
Some people board up their sorrows as a miser boards gold, and whenever they have a little leisure, they take them out and count them over as the miser counts up his treasure. The fuller your coffers are of remembered sorrows the poorer you are. Throw them away. Refuse to recall them when you can help it.—Exchange.

The Modern Shovel.

What has become of the old-fashioned minister who used to preach against laying up money, to rust and corrode while in this material sphere? The few shovels we get here no rust and they do not corrode, neither do they prey upon them, but they sometimes feel like it goes the other way, although they have not broken in upon us.—Hartford Republican.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up, as I was all run-down, nervous, and had a nervous headache and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until I took your Compound. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do everything from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."—Mrs. E. F. BRANNON, 404 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas.

FINDS HOME BREW PLANT IN CITY CREMATORY

Terre Haute, Ind., July 25. (INS.)—Who made beer in the city crematory, was the question this city asked itself today when it awoke to find a raid on the place by the sheriff at the instigation of Federal prohibition officer, J. Bryant who netted one still brewery, sixty pint bottles of home brew, 328 empty bottles, two cappers, and other implements of the trade. An aged man found at the crematory insisted he knew nothing of the liquor and was not arrested.

AGREEMENT NEAR ON DAWES PLAN IS LATEST REPORT

By DAVID M. CHURCH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
London, July 25.—An agreement is near on the dispute between the international bankers and the French Representatives to the Allied conference on the Dawes plan, it was learned from semi-official sources, this afternoon.

A plan offering the bankers satisfactory security for their proposed $200,000,000 loan to Germany and satisfying the French demands for right to protect France in case of default, has practically been agreed on, it was reported.

The only opposition comes from the British bankers, it was said.

Minister's Financial Advice Is Found To Be Expensive To His Flock

Rochester, N. Y., July 24. (INS.)—Because the "minister" was identified with the sale of stock in the Chemical Oil & Gas Co., of Pittsburgh, a number of Rochester men and women invested in the concern, some of them going so far as to raise money with which to buy stock by obtaining mortgages on their homes.

Today the minister, Rev. Fred J. Tower, former pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church and former Superintendent for the Anti-Saloon League in the Albany District, is under indictment here in connection with the Grand Jury's investigation into the activities of the Pittsburgh Company. Tower has arrived in Rochester from Pennsylvania where he has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

Tower charges him with working George E. Burgess, former evangelist, who is now in Cleveland. One of the two bills handed down against Tower, charges him with working Burgess in inducing Henry C. Taitell and his wife to mortgage their property for $6,000 and invest the money in the Chemical Oil & Gas Company. Burgess is alleged to have disposed of the bulk of the $600,000 worth of stock in the company which was sold in this vicinity.

Secret'y Clyde L. King And Wife Have Agreed To Separate; Home At Harrisburg Is Closed

Springfield, Pa., July 25 (INS.)—Mrs. Clyde L. King, wife of the secretary of the Commonwealth, has confirmed the report that she and her husband have agreed to separate. Neither party will seek a divorce, according to Mrs. King. The family home here has been closed for several weeks.

"LOCK THEM UP FOR SAFETY, THESE WITNESSES UNNECESSARY," SAYS MR. DARROW; "NOTHING DOING, WE WILL HANG THEM," SAYS ATTORNEY CROWE

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Chicago, July 25.—A battle of alienists such as no court trial has ever witnessed, not even excepting the Thaw case, was forecast today as the State of Illinois resumed its deadly hammering home of evidence designed to send young Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard A. Loeb to the gallows for murdering little Robert Franks.

They kidnapped him, beat his head in with a chisel, strangled and stripped his body of clothes, then hid it in a water drain—all "for a thrill." They admit it.

Nearly half a hundred witnesses have passed through the box in Justice Caverly's court and told of the gruesome details. Almost the same number of grizzly exhibits, blood-clotted and ugly, have been displayed.

Nearly half a hundred more witnesses will yet tell their stories, add their bit to the "mountain of evidence on which State's Attorney Crowe says he will hang them, before two sets of scientific men take the stand and give conflicting opinions as to the normality of minds that could conceive and execute such a wanton crime.

And through it all, Leopold and Loeb, the sprightly young collegians, have laughed.

They smiled when Crowe held aloft the bloody cold chisel which one of them wielded on young Franks' head, they smiled when he ran through his fingers the rope with which they suffocated the boy; they gawped out right as the Scandinavian servant in their homes gave broken English blows to their carefully prepared alibis.

These laughs, these guffaws, this debonair and unfeeling attitude, are considered significant. They are being watched closely and weighed carefully.

All around the crowded, musty old court room sit alienists taking notes, making observations. When the time comes, probably next week, the psychologists will swing into action.

Until then, what Clarence Darrow calls the "unnecessary part" of the epochal case will go on. Darrow is chief counsel for the two youths. He says all this going over the story of the plot and the murder, all this parade of witnesses with their damning facts, is "unnecessary." The boys have admitted the plot and the murder.

"Give them life, sentences and end it," Darrow says.

"Nothing doing—We will hang them," says Crowe.

And the show goes on.

Crowe is taking no chances. He is making his case as rock-ribbed and fool proof as it is possible for a murder case to be made with the evidence at hand; he is completing record against the time when it is possible a hanging verdict will be appealed.

There are persistent rumors of a coup on the part of Darrow and the defense, something brilliant, unexpected and spectacular—such as characterized his action on Monday when he unexpectedly withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded his charges guilty of murder, a most unusual proceeding.

Darrow is feared and respected by his legal opponents.

An evidence of this is seen from the fact that court attaches, hardened and experienced in a thousand murder trials, are betting even money in the corridors on a verdict of hanging or life imprisonment.

The defense is taking a long chance on convincing Justice Caverly, sitting both as Judge and Jury, that the two dapper young collegians are intellectually and morally abnormal.

"Dickie" Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., planned and executed the kidnapping and brutal slaying of young Franks with consummate skill, and attention to detail that any fictional villain might well envy.

Had it not been for the accidental loss of a pair of glasses of Leopold's near the culvert wherein they stuffed the boy's naked body, it is doubtful if they ever would have been apprehended.

Their counsel, backed up by the best alienists that money can hire, are getting ready to recite all this, and point to the boys' unprecedented demeanor in court, and ask:

TELEPHONE GIRL STICKS TO POST SAVES VILLAGE

Monroe, Mich., July 25. (INS.)—Miss Maxine Turner, telephone operator, saved the village of Carleton, ten miles north of here, from destruction by fire early today.

Miss Turner called fire departments in neighboring cities and they were able to stop the flames after three buildings had been destroyed with loss of $100,000.

Diplomats Not Satisfied With Persian Apology For The Imbrie Murder

London, July 25. (INS.)—The diplomatic corps is dissatisfied with the Persian government's reply to its collective note of protest following the recent murder of Robert W. Imbrie, American vice consul by a mob of religious fanatics, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail today from Tehran.

The government's reply, the dispatch said, disclaimed responsibility for the attack and made excuses for the inaction of the police who were reported to have stood idly by and watched the mob beat the American to death and seriously injure Melin Seymour, another American.

Beefsteak And Onion Dinner Served Rotes At Goshen Gun Club

The members of the Clearfield Rotary Club, to the number of fifty, were the guests yesterday afternoon and evening at Goshen Gun Club House of Rotarians Hobart Callahan and Fred B. Leavy. These Rotarians, who are also members of the Goshen Club got up a toothsome beefsteak dinner which was very much enjoyed by the pair mentioned, but cooked and served as well by Callahan and Leavy who were assisted at this end of it by Joe Chase and "Peggy" Orr.

Following the feed the regular weekly meeting of Rotary was held with President Gurney Smith presiding. The address of the evening was made by Harry Hallock of Columbus, Ohio, who for three or four years has been working for the crippled children of Ohio by the building up of a state wide organization out of which come free care, cure and education, for every crippled child in that great state.

For ten years prior to engaging in this great crippled children work, Harry Hallock was connected with the Ohio State government at Columbus, O., in a position where he was the legal guardian and protector of 1000 crippled children of the state. It was during this time that he had brought to his mind so forcibly the sad fact that his state did no more than appoint guardians to act as foster parents to crippled children, and this in spite of the fact that it was

Philadelphia, July 25. (INS.)—General Smedley Butler has served emphatic notice on his political enemies that he has no intention of resigning as director of public safety until his term of office expires.

In a talk here yesterday to a group of police inspectors, the director effectively spiked all rumors that have been going the rounds since his alleged break with the mayor two weeks ago to the effect that he was anxious to return to the Marine Corps and would not consider remaining here after January 5 next.

"Don't be misled by the idea that I am going to quit," said the director. "Remember I was appointed for four years and I'm going to stay until I'm kicked out."

The general heatedly denied reports that he and Mayor Kendrick are at sword's points and called on the men to renew their allegiance to the mayor's announced policies.

The two are scheduled to meet today for the first time in two weeks at the ball game between Philadelphia and Camden police. Director Butler has agreed to catch the first inning for the Quaker City coppers.

Butler's announcement that he desires to remain here after his year's leave of absence expires in January puts the matter squarely up to Mayor Kendrick. President Coolidge has already stated he will grant Butler another year of grace from the Marine Corps after the mayor requests it.

Hundreds Flocked To The Play Ground Picnic At The Park Yesterday P. M.

The four playgrounds held an outing yesterday at the Driving Park and several hundred children from ages one to sixteen years enjoyed the activities. Each playground had a good following and rooted for their respective teams in the different contests.

The playground leaders were in charge, Miss Dorothy Robb of West Side, Miss Margaret Jane Overly of East End, Miss Elizabeth Wall of Wilmer Park, and Miss Kathryn Thorn of Reedsville. The activities were under the supervision of Y. M. C. A. Director of Physical Education G. Leslie Shannon.

The girls' volleyball league got under way at the picnic, resulting in Reedsville taking three straight from Wilmer Park while in the second contest East End won two games after losing the first game to West Side.

One of the features of the picnic was the grand peanut scramble and race. The boys and girls were divided and each had their own race, resulting in William Callahan coming first with 84 "goobers," while Catherine Bobby was first with the girls, 78 double jointed jumbos.

The sack race held the attention of the crowd of happy youngsters for a long time and different heats were won by Mable Bloom of Reedsville, Dorothy Gano of East End and Caroline Cietara of Wilmer Park. The Reedsville boys, Martin Walker and Barton Hill, won their heats.

Only one match was played in the horse shoe contest, owing to the time and other activities, Reedsville taking

PENNSY-GRAMS

Connellsville.—Authorities are today seeking the murderer of Andrew Cristo, who had been missing for more than a week. Cristo's body was found in a field between this city and Uniontown yesterday. A bullet hole was in his skull. Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the murder, police say.

Bedford.—David and Jacob Koonrod ate a $100 meal a few days ago. However, it was only yesterday that they had to pay for the repast. The two Koonrods are said to have crossed the state line into Maryland and killed a wild turkey out of season, returned to Pennsylvania, dressed and cooked and ate the fowl. Upon complaint of Deputy Game Warden Joseph Weaver of Maryland the men were arrested near Englestown and fined $50 and costs each.

Uniontown.—There will be 11 women grand jurors on the grand jury during the first week of September. This is the largest number of women ever serving in Fayette county.

Philadelphia.—Anthony Maxtranton 34, was arrested here for firing three shots at his 13-year-old sweetheart, Rose Carvone. None of the bullets took effect. Maxtranton was described as a "too ardent" suitor.

Yellow Dogs Formally Celebrate Opening Of Irvin Park Pavilion

Yellow Dogs for miles around trekked into Curwensville last evening in answer to the "ki-yi's" of Chief Cur Grant Norris for the purpose of participating in the ceremonies incidental to the first meeting in the recently completed pavilion at Irvin Park.

This pavilion, which was erected at a considerable cost, is a monument to the tireless energy of Chief Cur Norris and his Curwensville kennel, the members of which united in a public spirited move to equip the town's beautiful rest and recreational ground with suitable buildings. The present one is the first step in that direction and goes to show what can be accomplished by intelligently directed, unselfish community effort.

A large class of mangy curs, including a bunch from Clearfield, were qualified for entry into polite canine society during the evening, the initiatory ceremonies being especially well handled.

The Yellow Dogs will stage a mammoth Labor Day celebration at Curwensville, and as Clearfield and all the other surrounding towns will lay off on celebrations this year and assist in making the Curwensville celebration the success it should be, a record-breaking crowd is looked for at the beautiful little up-river town.

COLLISION AT CORNER OF SECOND AND CHERRY

One of the Ford delivery trucks of the Clearfield Laundry and the car of Mrs. Fred Pilkington, of Fourth street, came together at the corner of Second and Cherry streets, shortly before the noon hour, today.

Mrs. Pilkington, coming down Second street, attempted to turn into Cherry as "St" Mann endeavored to come out of Cherry into Second with the laundry truck. "St" had Misses Kline and Cochran of the laundry force in the car with him. Miss Cochran had one of her fingers cut by flying glass from a broken windshield. The injury, which was slight, was treated by Dr. G. B. Yeane. Nobody else was hurt in the wreck.

The Ford had two wheels snapped off, while the Pilkington car was also banged up some. A third car traveling up Second street was a factor in causing the mishap.

"ROB" NAMES PARTY "PROGRESSIVE" PARTY

Washington, July 25.—The "Progressive" party came into existence today as the official designation for the standard carried by Senator Robert M. LaFollette in his independent drive for the White House.

The party name was chosen officially by the "committee of eleven" which will direct the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign. It will be used in every state in which the LaFollette forces establish an independent ticket of presidential electors.

The party emblem will be the Liberty Bell.

Graduation Exercises Of Local Bible School Next Thursday Evening

The School is going along with increasing interest. Plans are maturing for the Graduation and Picnic.

A special invitation is hereby given to the parents of the children of the Primary Department to visit that Department, meeting in the Lutheran church on Tuesday morning, July 29th. The teachers and pupils will be glad to welcome all the parents who can come. But be there at 9:15 sharp.

The sweetest exercises are carried on. As to the picnic the School can provide transportation to the Park for only the members of the School. The school is so large the transportation of any others cannot be considered. All those not attending the School should provide their own transportation if they plan to spend the picnic day at Irvin Park.

Parents are welcome to spend the day with their children if they provide their own transportation to the Park and take their lunch with them.

The graduation exercises will be carried out in Trinity Methodist church, Thursday, July 31 at 7:30. Some beautiful exercises are being planned and everybody is most cordially invited. You will be pleased.

The Assembly takes place at 10 o'clock each morning of the School. All are welcome to visit the assembly. The boys and girls have much to do themselves in this period. Inspiring addresses are given by ministers.

The expenses are heavy and any public spirited adult of Clearfield caring to do so, can help by sending any sized contribution to J. Lewis Irwin, Chairman of the Committee or to W. E. Brown, Secretary of the Committee. The School is worth while.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. J. S. Stone, of 402, 11th street celebrated the anniversary of her birth last evening by a six o'clock dinner at her home. All the family were there and a few intimate friends and neighbors. Among the family present were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stone, of Irwona; Mrs. Lloyd Turner and family of Woodland; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stone and family and Mr. and Mrs. Milk Stone and family.

BASEBALL DO'E

The DuBois Elks team managed to keep right at Clearfield's heels, one-half game from the top, by winning from Philipsburg at Scott Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 9 to 3. Johnny Zortman pitched for DuBois and the Philipsburg sluggers were not able to do much with him.

10 Year Old Chester Hill Boy Steps From One Car In Front Of Another; Injuries Kill

Picnic joy and festivities were swiftly changed into tragic sorrow in Chester Hill Wednesday afternoon July 24th, as the result of an automobile accident which proved fatal to Robert Peters, who, with his parents, was on his way to the Chester Hill community picnic at Lakeside Park, Morrisdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters and their three children had started in their car from their home on Idle street for the picnic grounds and had stopped at Pearson's store along the state highway, in Chester Hill, to make a few purchases.

The boy, it is reported, insisted on going for the purchases after they had stopped. He was cautioned to watch for the passing cars, as it was necessary to cross the highway to reach the store. He stood on the running board while several automobiles passed in both directions, and then stepped off, seemingly having failed to see the automobile approaching from Philipsburg. Though the driver of the car, John O'Connor, of Franklin, Pa., made every effort to avoid running the lad down, he failed.

The accident happened about 2:30 and the injured boy was at once hurried to the McGirk sanitarium and later in the afternoon was removed to the Philipsburg State hospital. He passed away at 7:30 in the evening, about two hours after having been admitted. He had a fracture of the jaw and of the skull.

Robert Ellsworth Peters was born at Chester Hill on Sept. 28, 1914. He was a bright and happy lad and the parents are receiving the sympathy of the whole community in their grief over the terrible affair. Deceased the parents, two sisters, Louise and Jane both younger than he, survive.

BELL FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion of the William Bell family will be held on Sunday, July 27, at the home of Lewis Jury of LaConto Mills. There will be 32 members there to enjoy the day together. Among those who are from a distance will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Rhodes and daughter, Agnes, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowl and son Donald, of Colver, Cambria county, Pa.; Miss Agnes Bell and Miss Jeannette Bray, of Hensdale, Ill.

Owing to I. O. O. F. picnic being held on reunion day Murray Reunion will be held the following Saturday Aug. 10th. Friends are invited.

MADE COMPLETE PREPARATIONS FOR HIS FUNERAL

Madrid, July 25. (INS.)—Senor Roque, a merchant, deciding on suicide, visited his relatives and invited them to attend his funeral which he said would be held today. Then he went to an undertaker where he purchased a casket and made arrangements for the funeral.

After visiting a municipal judge and requesting him to call later for his body, he went to his home and hanged himself.

Aviation Occupies Unique Position In Today's News

Globe Flyers Planning To Make Test Cruise Today Before Crossing Waters

Brough, Eng., July 25. (INS.)—The American round the world flyers planned to make a test flight today to be sure their planes are in perfect condition for the long flight across the Atlantic. Mechanics put the final touches on the pontoons, the most important part of the overhauling.

Miss Genevieve McCloskey, of Philadelphia, is visiting her aunt Mrs. Lola Merry and other relatives at present.

Italian Flyer Will Fly Across Atlantic With U. S. Globe Circlers

Rome, July 25.—Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator, hopped off today on a round the world flight from Pisa. He will fly to Brough, England and will accompany the American flyers across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Wm. Summers and Mrs. Lola Merry spent Thursday with Mrs. Reuben Bonnell at her home of Lumber City Road.

MacLaren Nearing Point Where He Must Fly Across Pacific Ocean

Tokio, July 25. (INS.)—A Stuart MacLaren, British round the world flyer, and his three companions have arrived at Petropavlovsk kamchatski, a peninsula north of the Kurile Islands and almost directly across the Pacific from Prince Rupert, Canada.

Mrs. Richard S. Paterson, of Philadelphia is visiting at the home of her grandmother in Curwensville.

Runaway Balloon Flies Over Providence, R. I., With Ropes Trailing

Providence, R. I., July 25. (INS.)—A big observation balloon which broke away at the Lakehurst, N. J., air port today passed over this city shortly before 10 o'clock today. The covering was badly torn and a number of ropes trailed from the runaway "ship."

Thousands watched the balloon come up Narragansett Bay and sail over the city.

"Shenandoah" Successful In 500 Mile Flight Over Scranton, Wilkes-Barre

Lakehurst, N. J., July 25. (INS.)—Completing a successful test flight of more than 500 miles, the navy dirigible "Shenandoah" was brought to the ground here this morning, after hovering over the field for more than six hours because of unfavorable wind and weather conditions.

The "Shenandoah" returned to its station at 8:45 o'clock last night from its flight to Scranton, Pa., and Binghamton, N. Y.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The Germans are getting ready for something. Just what, isn't clear. But the government centered in Berlin is spending less than it's collecting in taxes and so on—saving as much as $5,000,000 a week.

This results from the 20 per cent increase in taxes.

The European situation begins to look more promising, with money piling up in Germany for reparations. Or will it be used for that?

The strength of Senator LaFollette is indicated by the growing number of high politicians deserting the old parties and joining the LaFollette banner.

He started off with only Senators Shipstead and Magnus Johnson, of Minnesota, as his avowed supporters. He has been joined by Senator Ladd and Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, both Republicans.

He has been joined by Senator Wheeler, of Montana, who stars with Senator Walsh as the Gold Dust Twins engaged in cleaning up corruption in the Federal Government.

Senator Wheeler has accepted the nomination for Vice-President on the LaFollette ticket, which thereby becomes a true non-partisan progressive ticket.

Nor does this represent the end of desertions. The LaFollette people confidently hope to be joined by the fighting Missouri Senator, James A. Reed, the brainiest man and the best orator on the Democratic side of the Senate.

There is a further group of influential politicians who can be counted upon to give passive if not active support to the Presidential candidacy of LaFollette. This group includes Republican Senators Brookhart, of Iowa; Norris, of Nebraska; and the Democratic Senator, Dill, of Washington, all three of whom were helped in their last elections by the personal assistance of Senator LaFollette.

It is hard to see how Hiram Johnson, of California, can keep very far away from the LaFollette band wagon. He has been thrown down by the Old Guard Republican machine which controls California. Through the opposition of this Old Guard he was overwhelmingly defeated by Coolidge in the Presidential primaries. Johnson is a Progressive and has no future except in Progressive ranks.

The same must be said of Senator Borah, of Idaho. He refused the Vice Presidential nomination with Coolidge.

Idaho, seems one of certain of those that are for the LaFollette column in the November elections. The Idaho Progressives, who nearly elected their candidate for Governor in 1922, are concerned that election this year.

The politicians have their ears to the ground and are the first to note the widespread rumble of popular dissatisfaction with the status of politics.

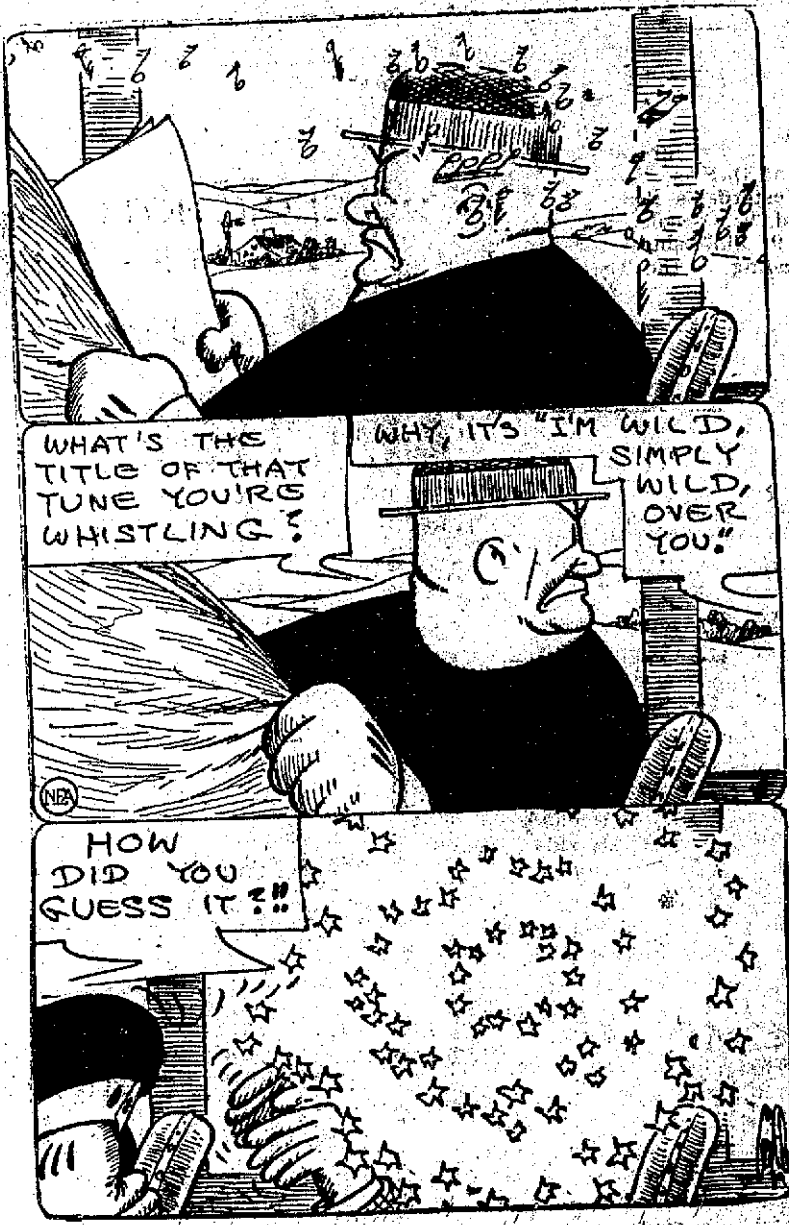

PROMINENT CATHOLIC BISHOP IS DEAD
Charlotte, N. C. July 25 (INS).—Right Rev. Leo Haid, Bishop of North Carolina, Dean of the Catholic Hierarchy of America and since July 1886 Abbot of Belmont Catholic Abbey, 127 miles from here, is dead here today following several weeks illness.

William Kramer, formerly of Akron, Ohio, who has been a resident of Clearfield for some time, was called to his former home today by the death of his father.

caring for, curing and educating in state institutions or at state expense all other classes of defective children. The state had gone so far as to make a survey so when various societies such as the Society for crippled children, the Rotary Clubs, The Elks, The Shrine and others got together with the idea of having the state attempt a correction of children's physical defects, Harry Haddock was the man put in charge of building the legislation and getting it placed on the statute books. As a result of that effort, hundreds of Ohio children are now romping at play who would otherwise be bed-ridden for life, others are hop-skipping who heretofore had to use crutches, etc.

Mr. Haddock, at the solicitation of many good men and fine organizations of the state will stay in Pennsylvania for some time. He wants our children made well as well as Ohio's and we know the public will respond to his efforts.

THE VERDICT AGAINST
"PITTSBURGH PLUS"

The decision of the Federal Trade Commission abolishing "Pittsburgh Plus" is the first victory for eleven State Legislatures, 6,000,000 farmers and the people of twenty-eight Western and Southern States in their long fight against the steel industry. There is hardly a farmer in America who does not know and condemn "Pittsburgh Plus." Nor any steel user who has not felt the burden of what Steel defends as an "immemorial custom."

What is "Pittsburgh Plus" South and West it is a battletory raised against about 200 steel producers. It has been defined as that practice in the steel industry whereby all rolled steel, except rails—regardless of where it is made—is sold at a delivered price which consists of the mill price at Pittsburgh, plus the amount of freight from Pittsburgh to destination.

This "plus" goes into the coffers of the steel mills. It works like this. There is at Pueblo, Col., a steel mill producing 1,250,000 tons yearly. Across the road from the mill Pueblo made steel is going into a new building. That steel must "pay the freight" from Pittsburgh, adding $24 to the cost of every ton of it.

Chicago is in the heart of the Western steel district. Until 1923, when terrific pressure forced the establishment of a Chicago "base price," steel made at Gary, Joliet and South Chicago paid a phantom freight of $6.80 per ton. Yet in 1918, at Duluth, Judge Gary, of United States Steel, admitted that the cost of Gary steel was 13.12 per cent less than the cost of Pittsburgh steel.

Birmingham produces 1,500,000 tons of steel annually. Its "plus," once $15.20 per ton, has been cut to $5; but Birmingham must still pay that much tribute. Before the ten per cent rate cuts, Philadelphia, producing 4,500,000 tons annually, paid a $7 "plus" per ton on her own steel and was charged $7 instead of the actual $2.90 paid on steel from Bethlehem. New York was charged $7.60 instead of the actual $3.20 paid for freight from Bethlehem steel.

"Pittsburgh Plus" grew out of the old "steel pools" and "Gary dinners." Established about 1904, it began functioning when these were outlawed or discontinued. Its defense by Steel may be thus summarized:

It is a result of the law of supply and demand. Since Pittsburgh is the only surplus-production district, this practice is essential to the stabilization of the industry. No new mills can be built if it is abolished. Its going will mean market chaos, would benefit few and, finally, it has existed throughout the life of the American steel industry.

In the face of this defense, the Federal Trade Commission has found for the plaintiffs, and these findings may be condensed as follows:

"Pittsburgh Plus" is a price-fixing scheme that has succeeded the old "steel pools" and "Gary dinners." It is a monopoly contrary to the public interest and is in no way based on the law of supply and demand, but is made possible only by the dominant position of United States Steel in the industry. It is a price discrimination, destroying competition, in violation of the Clayton Act and of the Federal Trade Commission Act. Further, it adds unnecessary millions to the small steel bill of America, and specifically it adds $30,000,000 yearly to the cost of steel products used by farmers of eleven Western States.

The farm angle of "Pittsburgh Plus" is a most significant one. Of every 100 users of rolled steel, seventy-five are farmers. Farms absorb three-sevenths of all steel and iron made. Since most farm implements are made an average of 500 miles west of Pittsburgh, this phantom freight hits the farmer hard. Prior to the general 10 per cent freight reduction there was $1.93 "plus" in every corn planter, $3.61 in a disk harrow, $6.88 in a grain binder, and $19.80 in the farm tractor.

The farm clamor against it was taken up in 1920 by the American Farm Bureau. In the mid-West it became a political question. Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, used it in his 1922 campaign. Senator La Follette and his followers have harped on it for years. It has been one of the favorite grievances of the farm agitator. The order for its abolition will echo and re-echo through the 1924 campaign.

The Trade Commission has made a decision of far-reaching importance. If the death verdict stands through the courts, there will be radical changes in the steel industry. Its bases must shift and its methods of marketing and distribution will be junked. Steel must say good-by to a vast tribute it has exacted for a generation.

With the passing of this phantom freight charge Pittsburgh may lose its long-threatened domination in steel. It may be that eventually the lower end of Lake Michigan will be the steel area of North America. If so, the region where Illinois and Indiana come up to meet the lake will become the heart of a very powerful industrial empire. The end of "Pittsburgh Plus" is Pittsburgh's loss and Chicago's and the mid-West's gain. What this may mean to business, manufacture, to trade and the existing channels of trade only the future can reveal. (Public Ledger.)

WHAT ABOUT STEEL NOW?

A popular belief, apparently supported by statistics of the industry, is that the United States Steel Corporation could, if it cared to do so by offering the competition of which it is capable, control the iron and steel

SAVE THE CHILDREN

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Once again it is made clear that laws never really cure evils.

Is something wrong? There ought to be a law. It's the old refrain.

Now it's the burning question of child labor. As long as little children toil in mines and fields and factories, while grown men and women live of the products of their toil, every citizen ought to hang his head in shame.

But so far, efforts to pass laws to put an end to this evil have only proved how difficult it is to arrive at a true justice through legislative measures.

It is true that most of the opposition so far, has come from employers who profit by the labor of children. One can have scant sympathy for their point of view. Better a few dividends cut in two than that little children should stand all day with aching backs and weary feet, in the blazing sun or the stifling air of factories.

There is another source of complaint from those people who do not believe in the increasing tendency toward centralization of government, and the gradual limiting of the right of each state to govern itself. These people have a right to their convictions because centralized rulings of this kind have proved to be dangerous.

But in this case, if a just plan of limiting child labor could be arrived at, a state could well afford to waive its rights for so noble an end.

So that objection should be easily brushed aside, also. The really difficulty lies in finding a plan, by which children will be protected from all exploitation and given an opportunity for normal wholesome living and for at least the rudiments of an education, on the one hand, without interfering with normal family life and family discipline on the other hand.

In the last analysis this is something that it will be difficult for a formal law to do.

Some of the laws suggested would make it actually illegal for a girl, under eighteen to do the dishes while a mother did the washing, or for a boy of sixteen to take his turn at a day's work in the fields, or garden.

How can a law be so worded that parents will be forced to teach cooperation and personal responsibility to their children without at the same time allowing them to work beyond their strength. This is a matter which calls for an individual conscience, for the loving care which most parents instinctively feel, but which a considerable few are too selfish to exercise.

The process of creating public sentiment, which is the best cure for all of society's evils, is too long and too slow, just now to use on behalf of the children.

In the meantime thousands of children of this generation would suffer. What we need are employers and parents with an awakened sense of responsibility toward young. But in the mean time, it's quite true that a law of some kind must be passed and that rich, kindly

The public reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Moore last evening following the wedding of their daughter, Miss Carrie Moore, to Ross Marston, was a particularly happy gathering. Several hundred young people attended and enjoyed the occasion immensely. The reception was held in the big hall on the second floor of the Marston garage. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served to all.

the contest with Witmer Park.

In the playground ball league, Witmer Park lost to East End 7 to 8, and also lost to West Side, 8 to 14. The league will continue this afternoon. Redsville going to East End and West Side going to Witmer Park.

The favorite refreshments outside of the big lunches each boy and girl brought was the ice cream cone, nearly four hundred being consumed. The kiddies all want to know when the next one will be as they want to bring their friends along to enjoy the day.

33 LESS PEOPLE DIE THAN LAST YEAR AT GRADE CROSSINGS

Harrisburg, Pa., July 25, (INS)—Thirty-three fewer people were killed in railroad grade crossing accidents in Pennsylvania during the first six months of this year than during a similar period of 1923, according to John P. Doherty, chief of the Bureau of Accidents of the Public Service Commission.

The decrease is forty per cent lower than during the first half of last year. The total number of accidents for the first six months of 1923 was 483 while this year it dropped to 409, Mr. Doherty said.

During the first half of last year 82 people were killed at crossings as compared with 49 for the early half of 1924. Of this number in 1923 twenty-nine fatalities occurred at protected crossings which is twelve more than the similar period of 1924. The number killed at unprotected crossings last year was 53 as compared with 31 in 1924.

Automobiles figured to a large extent in the accidents at grade crossings during the six months period ending June 30, 1924, the bureau record discloses. Of the 409 accidents 357 automobiles were involved which is 87 per cent of the total. Thirty-four people were killed and 186 other injured. Eighty-four per cent of the casualties at grade crossings during the early part of the year were caused by automobiles.

A closer analysis of the automobile figures show that twenty-nine machines were stalled on the tracks and struck by trains resulting in the death of one person and the injury of 11 others. Eleven cars were driven through lowered gates and struck by trains causing two deaths and the injury of 8 occupants. Six people were killed and 47 injured during the six month period when 95 automobiles were driven into the side of trains or trains moving over crossings.

During the same period 391 automobiles, 19 auto-buses and taxi cabs, 3 motorcycles, 7 wagons and 4 street cars were driven through lowered crossing gates but did not collide with trains. This is a total of 424 as compared with 347 for the same period in 1923.

Accidents of street railways in the State for the same comparative period increased from 1084 in 1923 to 1222 this year, the announcement says. Of this number 66 were killed this year which is an increase of 23 and the number injured jumped from 1284 in 1923 to 1415 this year. Fourteen of the 66 killed this year were trespassers, 7 passengers and three employees. The others were non-trespassers.

Apparatus Separates Parasites From Soil

Ingenious Flotation Device of Dr. Cobb Is Valuable.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In studying the nemas which exist in the soil and which, in many cases, cause diseases of plants such as root-rot and certain rots, there has been much difficulty in separating the organisms from the soil. Most of these threadlike parasites are extremely small and cannot be picked out by ordinary methods; neither can they be washed out readily. However, Dr. N. A. Cobb of the United States Department of Agriculture has devised an ingenious flotation apparatus which affords valuable aid in removing nemas from a sample of soil.

The apparatus consists essentially of a hollow cylinder several inches in diameter and three or four feet high, tapering for about a foot to a small opening at the bottom and provided with a spout near the top. This cylinder is fastened to a circular rotating table or frame which is turned at a moderate speed by a motor while the nema-free water is run in from the bottom by turning a graduated tap. The soil sample is mixed with a small quantity of water and then poured quickly into the rotating cylinder when it is about a quarter full of water. The rotation develops such a disturbing up-and-down current which might interfere with the separation, as in some cases separating machines.

Nemas sink very slowly and the rise of the water is so regulated by the tap that it will a little more than counteract their fall. As a result the small particles which are heavier sink to the bottom and the nemas are lifted to the top. When the rising column of muddy water reaches the upper opening it is spouted with the contained nemas into a vessel set on the rotating table to catch the overflow. When all the nemas are collected in this vessel they are allowed to settle to the bottom. The water is drawn off and a slimy mass containing the nemas in much greater concentration is found in the bottom. They may then be removed and examined under the microscope. By this method also the number of nemas in a given quantity of soil may be estimated.

Mississippi Girls Work for Pure Bred Poultry

Pure bred poultry is receiving encouragement in Mississippi through the interest of a leading merchant in Laurel, Jones county, who gave twenty settings of pure bred Rhode Island Red eggs to twenty "4H" poultry club members. These girls were required to raise as many as possible of the chicks hatched and keep all except one pullet, which was returned to the donor. The twenty pullets which came back were made into five pens, to each of which a cock was added. The five pens were then given to five other girls in the county, who were to own the chickens. Each of these girls, however, promised to send in a setting of eggs to be distributed in turn to other girls.

Eleven of the original girls succeeded with the project, according to a report received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The two who failed were allowed to try again. This plan has proved an excellent means of interesting club girls in the production of pure bred poultry, and many of their neighbors have also become interested.

Cropping System Helped by Growing Soy Beans

Soy beans as a soil building crop which would also furnish an economical protein feed supplement have been given a thorough trial by Blackford county (Ind.) farmers on the advice of their agricultural extension agent. The rapid increase in the acreage planted to the crop in the county indicates that they found it a valuable addition to their cropping system. Five years ago, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, only a few farmers in the county grew soy beans, but in 1922 approximately 3,850 acres were grown with corn and 500 acres were grown alone for seed and hay.

FARM NOTES

If you are dissatisfied with your lot, grow a garden on it.

Don't guess at the moisture conditions of your land. Bore into it and be certain.

Marketing eggs by basket is rapidly giving way to the new-fashion method of co-operative selling.

Failure to treat cuts for smut the last few years has cost growers at least three and a half bushels an acre.

Song and game birds are friends of the farmer. Protect and encourage them and they will reduce the losses from insects.

If you wish to improve the quality of your flock without serious expense the best thing to do is to cull out a pen of the choicest birds and hatch their eggs.

Seeding alfalfa without a nurse crop in the early spring is often a risky proposition, particularly if the ground has not been worked over as much as it should have been.

Stepping stones. Doing the best you can is the practice you need to help you do better.

WOOD'S PART IN GAMES

Where would our games be without trees? All are dependent upon wood for their existence, says the London Tit-Bits. Football is one of the few that could dispense with it, for the goal posts and the flag sticks could be made of some other material, but wood is the most convenient. To cricket wood is indispensable. Where should we be without willows from which our bats are made and ash for the wickets? But a bat needs other woods as well as willow. To help to make the handle springy cane is introduced for splicing, rubber (the product of another tree) frequently being let into the handle to give it greater "spring." A bat made entirely of willow, without any splicing, would have no "spring" at all, and a player would not be able to hit a hard ball owing to the "sting." Ash is used in many ways in sport. The best frames of lawn tennis and badminton rackets are made from it; so are hockey sticks and the cheaper varieties of croquet mallets. Bows and arrows and billiard cues are also made principally from ash. Cane seems to be the only satisfactory wood for splicing, and it is used in the handles of hockey sticks and tennis rackets to impart "spring." The better woods, such as ebony and mahogany, are used to weight the butts of billiard cues. The heads of golf clubs are usually made of beech, as are croquet balls. Hickory or greenheart provides the shafts of golf clubs and fishing rods. From lancewood are made the finest bows for archery; this wood is also used for high grade cricket stumps.

Alarming possibilities of the radio are seen with every new development. Now it is reported from Dawson that radio apparatus is making its appearance in the Yukon, and the worst feature of the report is that residents at that far northern latitude are able to hear the jazz music that emanates from New York, San Francisco and other cities, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "Dance halls at Miller Creek and Keno Mills," we are told, "have experimented and found that they can tune in on radio concerts for their jazz music." This is something that might have been foreseen, but it is, indeed, news of dire portent. American jazz, from which there is no escape at home and which already has made a successful invasion of certain foreign countries, is destined to be carried by the radio to the uttermost ends of the earth. What will be the consequence no one can tell.

The derivation of dog names recently formed the subject of an interesting discourse by a widely-known dog fancier. The spaniel, it seems, was so called because the original breed of this type came from Spain, says the Detroit News. The Blenheim spaniel got his name from Blenheim palace, where this dog first gained popularity in the time of the great duke of Marlborough. In the same way the King Charles spaniel owes its name to the merry monarch. Fox terriers did not gain their name from a likeness to a fox, but from the fact that formerly they were used in hunting foxes. Many years ago they were sent by their masters down the fox burrow to draw and kill their quarry. It was in those days a saying that a good terrier never came out of a burrow without a fox.

Outside of certain strips and centers where arteries of travel cross, Paris has no night life. In a good 2,500 of her 2,722 streets one gets the impression at nine o'clock that everybody has gone to bed, and, at ten, that all the inhabitants have either moved to the country or died, says Scribner's Magazine. In the little cafes and restaurants of my quarter, as it draws toward ten the waiters begin to regard you with an evil eye, and at ten they pile up the chairs on the empty tables and begin to sweep the floor. Even in the larger ones, which keep open an hour or two longer, you experience, at eleven o'clock, the very disagreeable sensation of the man in the old song who felt "like one who treads alone some banquet hall deserted."

Fastidious fancy is difficult to fathom where values are concerned. A dinosaur's egg is old and useless, but is expected to bring thousands of dollars. As a practical proposition a hen's egg is far more worthy of consideration. The kitchen is still fortunate in not being obliged to compete with the curio collection.

References to American diplomacy as inferior to that of the old world are frequent. Americans are usually quick to learn almost any kind of a game, though loath to be particular as to the kind of rules under which they play.

Another reason why we expect very little from the new truth serum is, even if it be efficacious the supply will be so limited that very little can be accomplished. If it were in ocean-falls; instead of in ounces, the case might be different.

Origin of "Hustings"

Hustings was the name of an ancient court held in the city of London. In its present sense the word denotes the place where members of parliament were nominated before the ballot act of 1872 rejected the form of nominating openly. From this it has come to be applied to any electioneering platform.

YOUR BACK ACHE?

After Grip, "flu" or colds the kidneys and bladder are often affected—called nephritis, or inflammation of kidneys.

This is the red flag of danger—better be wise and check the further inroads of kidney disease by obtaining that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's known as Anuric (anti-uric-acid), because it expels the uric acid poison from the body and removes those pains, such as backache, rheumatism in muscles and joints.

Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists, or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

Send Dr. Pierce's Invaluable Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for trial package of Anuric, or ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache remedy).

Everywhere folks praise it. Butler, Pa.—"I had the influenza and it left me with bad kidneys, they were inflamed and sore, congested and inactive and my back ached so badly that it seemed it would break in two. At times the pains would extend clear up to the back of my neck. I took medicine for my kidneys but nothing gave me any relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and they so completely relieved me of all my kidney trouble and put my kidneys in such perfect working order that they have never given me any more trouble. I have never taken medicine that can compare with Dr. Pierce's Anuric."—W. J. Love, 818 Jefferson Street.

Some Ancient Dyes. The process of mordanting—fixing dyes in textiles by metallic salts—was discovered 2,500 years ago. One of the earliest known mordants, a scarlet worm, known later as vermillion, which name survives in vermilion.

Thought for the Day. Some people work themselves late a frenzy over something they will never have to face.

Too Much of a Good Thing

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and am now entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

Leopold and Loeb Pleading Guilty

Here are Nathan F. Leopold Jr. (left) and Richard Loeb, 19-year-old sons of millionaires, at the bar in Chief Justice John R. Cawley's court, pleading guilty to the kidnapping and murder of 14-year-old Robert Frank. Both of the youthful "intellectuals" were dressed fastidiously as they came into court. And both outwardly were calm as they walked to the bench. Leopold, however, is gazing downward, but Loeb is looking straight at the judge. The strain, though, is noticeable in the faces of both.

Curwensville's Own Column

Rev. Shaulis will administer the sacrament of Holy Communion at Grace Lutheran church on Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Zinn and family and Mrs. Harry Pugh, all of Morgantown, W. Va., visited at their cousin's Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baer, South Side, James Goss, an uncle, of Philipsburg, also was a visitor at the Baer home.

We are requested to announce in care some people misinterpret the bible convention at the Park, that it is not strictly a Baptist affair but an inter-denominational meeting and that members of all churches are cordially invited and will be made welcome.

The florists association held a picnic at the Park. Representatives from every section of this and adjoining counties were present and enjoyed the day's outing. There were more people on grounds yesterday than for any single day during the week day season, and they were not all florists either, by a long shot.

Two young men of the South side were before Squire Dale yesterday on a charge of stealing money from the clothes of persons who were in bathing. They admitted the charge and each was bound over under a $500 bail bond to appear at next term of court.

Arrests were made before Squire Dale yesterday forenoon under the charge of selling cigarettes to boys under age. He conducted a store on south Pine street. He denied any knowledge of the offense alleging that his wife was the guilty party. Proceedings will be entered against her, provided the matter is not settled outside the pale of the law's regular course.

"Buckie" Baer's Arabs crossed bats with the Readville club Wednesday afternoon and came out of the fray, losing the game by score of 8-4. "Buckie" has not been very successful thus far in the season with a winning aggregation, they having suffered defeat in every game played.

Mrs. Foster, of Pittsburgh, was a guest of Mrs. C. E. Doverspike Wednesday and a part of Thursday.

Reuben Pentz, of Indiana, Pa., and Mrs. Elan Ireland of Goshen, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Post, McLaughlin street, this week.

The body of Mrs. Arnold Bloom arrived in Curwensville yesterday afternoon and conveyed from the train to Oak Hill cemetery and after a short funeral service was laid to rest alongside that of her husband. The Adult ladies bible class of the M. E. church, attended services of their deceased sister in a body. Rev. Dr. J. V. Adams conducting the service.

George Kiville and Quito Vistella, two young boys were picked up yesterday forenoon by Probation officer and local officers, and taken before the Justice of the Peace on a charge of incorrigibility. George Kiville having been at large since July 1st. Both were taken to Clearfield by the office.

John P. Welch died at his home on George street, yesterday morning at the hour of 8 o'clock, after a lengthy illness, catarrh of the throat and other complications. He was born July 3rd, 1857, and had been in the

MAINTAIN LEAD BY DEFEATING OSCEOLA BY A SCORE OF 9 TO 7

Manager Robinson took his ball team over to Osceola yesterday afternoon and, with "Dode" Wisor, on the mound succeeded in maintaining their hold on first place in the C. & C. League race by downing the mountain climbers by a 9 to 7 score.

The locals opened on the Osceola lads like a veritable whirlwind and chased five runs across before the third man was out in the very first round.

McCloskey opened hostilities by cracking out a single. Rowles dumped the ball in front of the plate and was thrown out at first, the sacrifice advancing McCloskey to second. Robinson managed to get to first on a fielder's choice, and promptly stole second.

McCloskey and Robbie both came in on W. Fauver's single. Shaulis hit to first and was out. Roseberry's tap was fumbled by Dugan and he made first base.

Peterson's double scored Roseberry and "Pete" counted when Lansberry poled out a double. "Joberry" was out at third on his try for three bases on the hit.

Singles by McCloskey and Robinson netted another run in the second inning, while a base on balls to McCloskey, Robinson's double, W. Fauver's triple and a single by Shaulis scored three more in the fourth.

Osceola got their first run off Wisor on a base on balls an error and Hen'sal's double in the fourth inning. A base on balls, an error and three singles netted them three more in the sixth. They got another in the seventh on Demonic's double and a single by Carey. Three singles and an error gave them their final two in the eighth.

employ of the Penna railroad company for a most forty years, but in 1922 was placed on the retired list.

In 1901 he was sent to Grampian where he remained about five years, and then came to Curwensville, where he has made his home since that time. His wife died some twenty odd years ago. He is survived by a son, Lester, and one daughter, Mrs. Maudie Torst of Mt. Union, one sister, Miss Annie Welsh, who kept house for him and two brothers, William of Sunbury and Robert of Vail, Blair county. He was an exemplary citizen, honest and courteous to all. He was a member of St. Timothy Catholic church, and the funeral services will be held on Saturday forenoon at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery at Clearfield.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S.S.S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaft, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes: "I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it."

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Are using these rare powders By Edna Wallace Hopper

I did not intend to supply powders to women. My only idea was to furnish them my greatest beauty helps. But thousands of women have urged me, by letter and in person, to tell them the powders I use.

Like all my friends, on the stage and in the movies, I use very costly powders. I have them made to my order, and they cost me $5 per box. Our careers depend on our looks, and nothing is too costly.

But I have persuaded the makers to offer these powders at ordinary prices. I order them in quantities, under my name. I offer them at my expense to girls and women who desire the best.

Now all druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Powders. There are two kinds. For myself I prefer a clinging powder, a cold cream powder, based on my Youth Cream. It is enduring. That Youth Cream Powder costs $1. But many women prefer a light and fluffy powder. If you want that kind it costs but 50 cents. Both kinds come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

So far as I know, these powders are the finest in existence. You may be sure that if anyone produced a better powder I would get it quickly. Any one who uses common powder will gain a false conception of what powders should be.

Women and Misses Smart Coats and Suits

THE SUITS
In Wanted Models

An opportunity too rare for any woman to miss. Qualities are exceptionally fine. Every detail of tailoring indicates superiority. Fashionable models in good hairlines, twills, tweeds, and other wanted fabrics. Not a suit in the whole wonderful lot could be duplicated within double of the price asked. Until you see them you cannot appreciate their value.

THE COATS
In Snappy Styles

This is truly the most important event of the season. Aside from the amazing reduction of One-Half the coats are unusual—styles reach the point of exclusiveness—fabrics and workmanship are of the kind always associated with the best garments. A genuine clearance.
That means wearable coats clear into the winter months.
